Concerning Busts.

Some school children were being shown through the capitol the other day and visited, among other places, the vice-president's room. Mr. White, the handsome young clerk of Senator Frye, undertook to play guide for the youngsters.

"Here," said he, "is the bust of George Washington, the first president of the United States. He is dead now, you know. And here is the bust of Jefferson. He's dead too. And this is Henry Wilson, one of the vice presidents. He died in this room."

A little girl looked up at Mr. White with wide open, wondering eyes. "Did he bust, too?" she asked.—Washington Post.

Waiting For Her Boy.

A few years ago, in one of the growing cities of New York state, there was a home into which the great sorrow of a father's death had entered. The sons, of whom there were several, were of a nervous temperament, full of animation, and exposed to many temptations which endangered the youth in large cities.

The widowed mother realized the vast importance of her responsibility, and many a time did she look upward toward the Heavenly Father for divine aid in the guidance of her fatherless boys. She made it a rule never to retire to rest at night until all her sons were at home. But as the boys grew older this became a severe tax both on her time and health, often keeping the faithful mother watching until the midnight hour.

One of her boys displayed a talent for music and became a skillful violinist. He drifted among the wrong class of people, and was soon at balls and parties that seldom dispensed until the early hours of day.

Upon one occasion it was nearly seven o'clock in the morning before he went to his home. Entering the house and opening the door of the sitting room, he saw a sight that never can be effaced from his memory.

In the old rocking chair sat his aged mother fast asleep, but evidently she had been weeping. Her frilled cap, as white as snow, covered her gray hair; the knitting had fallen from her hands, while the tailon from the candle had run over the candlestick and had run over her dress.

Going up to her, the young man exclaimed, "Why, mother! What are you doing here?"

His voice startled her, and upon the question being repeated she attempted to rise, and piteously but O, so tenderly looking up into his face said, "I am waiting for my boy."

The sad look and those words, so expressive of that long night's anxiety, quite overcame the lad, and throwing his arms around her, he said:

"Dear mother, you shall never wait again like this for me."

That resolution has never been broken. But since then that mother has passed into the world beyond, where she still watches and waits, but not in sorrow, for her boy.—Classmate.

South Carolina Peaches.

In South Carolina in the Ridge section lying between the Saluda and Savannah rivers, and comprising a good portion of Edgefield and Saluda county, 5,100 acres of land are already planted in peach trees which are yielding abundant and profitable crops. The orchard extended from Leesburg to Trenton, and from two stations alone, Ridge Springs and Monetta, there were shipped this season 78,900 crates of peaches to Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York and other Eastern Markets, requiring 114 refrigerator cars and fifteen express cars. The farms range from thirty acres to 200 acres. From one acre at Bostonsburg there were shipped 1,000 crates of peaches to Philadelphia, Baltimore, New York and other Eastern Markets, requiring 114 refrigerator cars and fifteen express cars.

Want Everything Free.

Very few people realize or appreciate the fact that a newspaper's advertising space is its stock and trade.

There is hardly a week passes but that some one offers us something in the way of an advertisement "just to fill up." The same persons had just as well ask Capt. Oslin to take them over to Barneet "just to fill up" the coaches.

Along this line an incident occurred to us the other day which is worth relating.

A young farmer drove up in front of our office with a nice lot of peaches in the rear of his buggy.

Coming in he said: "I want you to put something in your paper about my peaches."

He was asked if he meant he wanted to advertise the fact that he had peaches for sale.

"Oh! no, if it cost anything he didn't reckon it was worth while, as everybody knew he had peaches for sale anyway."

Another young farmer came in the other day with a handsome caneapple under his arm.

Placing the melon on the desk he began to direct our attention to its beautiful outlines, saying he had many more like it.

When he had dilated sufficiently on the merits of his melon, the young farmer departed, remarking as he went out the door:

"I have promised this to a friend up the street."

And this is the notice we give him concerning his beautiful caneapple.—Washington Reporter.

Dam Complete.

The new power dam that was being put across the Chestatee river at New Bridge, between here and Dahlonega, by the Gainesville & Dahlonega Electric Railway Company, has been declared completed, and this has been signified by shutting off the water from the building sites.

This dam is three hundred feet long, and gives a headway of twenty-six feet, and the volume of water gained is sufficient to produce 1200 horse power. Eight monster horizontal turbine wheels, geared on a shaft, will transmit the power to two generators.

These wheels have already been placed in position, and work is being done on the power station. This will be completed by the time the work on the tracks and wiring for the street railway and lighting system, that is being done in this city, is finished. The work of surveying and grading continues to go on very rapidly on Green street, and the company hopes to have cars in operation and be able to furnish the people of Gainesville the best rapid transit facilities by Christmas, and put the line in operation to Dahlonega next spring.—Gainesville News.

Last Sunday we noticed a young man just out of knee pants escorting a young woman still in short dresses. As they strolled along Lexington avenue, his smile indicated that he felt like a butterfly swimming in honey, cologne, nutmeg and cranberries, while she looked as though something was traveling through her nerves on feet of diamonds escorted by several cupids in golden chariots drawn by angels, shaded with honeysuckles and the whole spread over with a melted rainbow. God bless the kids! Let them spark.

Like chewing tobacco, it sometimes keeps them from practicing worse vices.—Washington Reporter.

aged 76 years succumbed in their last week by hanging.

The peach yield is enormous.
It is bringing more money into the state than the cotton crop.

The Macon Telegraph contains no illustrations but it has a heap of good reading matter.

The Southern railway is to double track its entire line between Atlanta and Washington.

It is estimated that eight million fruit trees have been planted in Georgia within the past 15 months.

Only a few weeks from now till the election and every democratic nominee in this county will be elected by large majorities.

At Hartwell, Ga., last week the day after James McConnell married Miss Sallie Snelton he committed suicide by cutting his throat.

Judge T. D. Green, who forced more than a thousand negroes to marry while he was magistrate at Ten Mile Hill, near Charleston, has been re-elected.

Governor Candler has ordered the solicitor to prosecute Sheriff Higgs, of Montgomery county, for failing to have a convict released after being pardoned.

Any man who voted in the democratic primary and fails to cast his vote for those nominated by it will lose the confidence of the people to a great extent.

The republicans of this county seem to be in confusion. Some want their candidates to run on, while others wish to blow the horn, call them in and quit hunting.

The peach business in Cherokee is destined to be a big industry.
There are nearly, if not quite,
300,000 trees out in the county.
In the course of a year or two these trees will bring in fine returns.—Advocate.

On July 1st there were 900,446
pensioner's names on Uncle Sam's rolls, being the high water mark in pensions. The last congress passed 1,100 special pension bills, and passed two acts which it is believed, will add 10,- 000 pensioners to the rolls.

One night last week while Prof.
Speedy, the high diver, was attempting to dive from a 75 foot tower into the lake at Riverside park, Ashville, N. C., he missed his footing and struck the bottom of the lake, head foremost and received such injuries as a critical condition.

An old cow got into a Dalton back yard last week and regaled herself with the wash that was on the fence drying. She ate up two union suits and seven pairs of stockings. Immediately after which she joined the butcher's union and now refuses to give milk except through hose.—Citizen.

A Florida paper says that a Georgia coroner's jury delivered the following verdict on the death of a merchant, who died suddenly, having failed in business: "We the jury, find from the doctor's statement that the deceased came to his death from heart failure, superinduced by business failure, which was caused by failure to advertise, which was the result of failure to see far enough ahead."

Pittsfield, Mass., Sept. 3.—The carriage occupied by the president and his party was wrecked by a trolley car. The president escaped with a few bruises. Detective Craig was killed, driver of carriage is dying and motorman of car dead.

President Stewart Talks About the College.

In conversation with President Stewart the other day, making inquiries about college matters he spoke as follows:

The fall session of the N. G. A. College will begin Wednesday morning September 10th. The opening exercises will be held in the college chapel at 10 o'clock, to which the citizens and friends of the students are invited. There will be several speeches of welcome to the students. After the opening exercises the registration and examination of students will begin. Every student should be present at the opening exercises.

Under the new dining hall arrangements many citizens may be able to furnish rooms to students who take their meals at the college. The college furnishes a room, fuel and lights for two dollars ($2.00) a month. Citizens could afford to furnish room complete for $2.00 without fuel and lights, for $2.00 month.

The President requests all who have furnished rooms to let or who will take "messers" or who wish regular boarders to notify him by postal card stating number, plan and price. This will greatly facilitate the placing of the students on their arrival.

Those contemplating taking students should have rooms in readiness Monday the 8th as the majority of the students will come on the 8th and 9th. It makes a homesick boy feel better to have a pleasant welcome in his new home. We are expecting a full attendance this year and the town must do all it can to give the students comfort, able and cheap board. Let all citizens feel that they must do all they can to aid the students and the college and nothing that would detract from the student's work or injure the usefulness of the college. The crediting of students without permission of parents should not be allowed by any merchant. Let every student feel that the entire community is with him in his efforts to get an education and against him in his efforts to waste his time or neglect his opportunities. The government sustains this institution in our midst without a dollar of cost to the town. The citizens of Georgia commit their sons to our safe keeping. May the college and the community throw that environment around the boys that will return them to their parents stronger, wiser and better.

Villa Dots.

Col. Jack Moore sat with his elbow on his knee, resting his chin on his hand, an interested spectator of a game of whist.

"It's tough Maxwell," remarked Sosebee. "The way they are doing us."

"Yes," volunteered Col. Baker, one of the visitors. "When you put a professional man, and a scientific man against a couple of everyday common fellows they don't stand much show! Do they catchings?" No, by jove, they don't."

Slowly the chin of Col. Jack rose from its resting place, and when his mouth opened we heard, "Yes, boys, wind and lightning are awful hard to fight."

Then Capt. Breymann shook five pounds of flesh from his left side, and Paul Castleberry, the umpire, declared it an unequal contest, and silently stole away to the cyclone collar, while Swain moyed into the middle of the room, out of the draft.

Mount Peleg again scatters death. Two hundred persons are lost in one district. Later reports give increase in number to 1,000.

Congressman Livingston is up in Maine making campaign speeches.

In some portions of North Carolina corn is so high that stock raisers are forced to sell cattle.

D. D. Graham made a successful swim through the whirl pool at Niagara Falls the other day.

Negro was lynched up in Illinois the other day charged with assaulting a young white woman.

Some two or three hundred dollars were subscribed up at Louisville camp ground last week for improvements.

Charles Jones and 30 negroes have been arrested at Redwood, Miss., charged with giving a white man a hundred lashes on bare back.

The so called independents of Lumpkin county will be snowed under this time so bad that they will never think of trying to rise again.

The cholera is slaying many thousands from Java to Japan, and almost every citizen on the coast and many in the interior are affected.

Ed Hewlette, a white man was arrested in Savannah this week for attempting criminal assault upon a little four-year-old girl of W. E. Evans.

A cigarette stub started a prairie fire out in Oklahoma the other day, destroying one hundred and fifty tons of hay and several fields of growing corn.

Now that Judge Lewis has resigned from the supreme bench several persons are wanting his position. His successor will be elected at the coming election in October.

Sunday last Jasper county had a negro lynching. The fiend had assaulted a little 12-year-old white girl and a mob took him out and ended his days. His name was John Brown.

You will notice that these republicans who wish to be recognized in the national republican convention pay no attention to these lily white meeting held by some of the republicans here.

The other night a drunken negro woman caused some excitement by going into a barroom at Macon and snapping a pistol in the faces of several persons. She was escorted to the lockup by an officer.

A frog was caught in this city recently that had a shell somewhat similar to that of a trapshell and there were seven horns on its head, varying in length from one half to one inch. It is an interesting curiosity.—Harmony Grove Citizen.

We are in favor of appointing a committee to officially notify Mr. Bryan that he is politically dead, and to request him to abstain from making post mortem speeches in those eastern states where the democrats have a chance to win.—Monroe Advertiser.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 5, 1902.

The recent rain has been a big help to late corn and turnip patches.

The NUGGET is read by twice as many people as any other paper published here or any that comes to the place.

As Prof. Vickery was on his way home last week he sold his two fine hounds in Gainesville to a gentleman of Florida for $50.

Mrs. A. J. Rees and her daughter Mrs. May Simmons, returned to Atlanta last Friday, both were considerably improved health.

Dr. Jones has again moved back his fence so as to widen the side walk on that part of the street, which has received the attention of the marshal, causing it to look much better.

Mr. John Bennett's sale out in Nimblewill district was largely attended last Saturday and everything brought a very good price, showing that times are not as hard as some people think.

At a special meeting of the city council last Friday the Southern Bell Telephone Co. was granted a franchise to erect telephone and telegraph lines anywhere within the corporate limits of Dahlonega.

We complete publishing the list of the names of special and grand jurors in the boxes revised by the commissioners of this county recently. The total number is 578, 173 of this number being grand jurors.

The couple of days rain last week did much good, although the ground was not thoroughly wet but a few inches deep. Yet we are thankful and hope we will have enough soon to enable the miners to resume their work.

A certain woman looked in the glass the other day and noticed that old age was changing the color of her hair. She fainted and it is believed by some of her nearest neighbors now that she will soon become a fit subject for the asylum.

Haying moved my business to Dawson county, all persons owing me for goods sold in Dahlonega, are requested to meet me in Dahlonega September 15th for settlement.

Respectfully,
J. H. MCKEE.

At the recent meeting of the city council decided to organize a city chain gang so as to empower the marshal to use the ball and chain on unruly evil doers, when they become stubborn and refuse to work. Heretofore the authorities had no power to work them if they didn't care to perform the labor.

Prof. Vickery and his family returned home last week after an absence of some time down the country. The professor's health has greatly improved and he looks better and stouter now than at any time before in four years. Prof. Vickery is a fine man, everybody likes him and are proud to see him regain his health.

The intruders have gotten to be so troublesome as to cause nearly every body to post their lands, every body at post their lands, Mr. Fry went down on his mineral property the other day where he had opened up several valuable veins some time ago and found them worked out as far as the intruders could conveniently go without putting up a pounding mill and other machinery.

Instead of his Tutt's Pills editorial last week we understand that Billy, the little wormy editor of the Signal, devoted the space to the NUGGET and its editor. It doesn't trouble us a bit in the world, as Billy is not responsible for what he says while taking medicine from the lily white publican spoon and other things. But few people see or care to read what he says.

John Rider broke his arm while at work down in Dawson county recently.

The little fifteen month's old child of Mr. James Gibson died near Dahlonega last Monday.

Prof. Steed and his lady, after an absence of some months from Dahlonega, returned last Monday.

Col. Price left for Atlanta first of the week when he went to have a school map of this county printed.

Mr. Breymann is now giving the patrons of the Consolidated Co. all night lights, beginning first of the month.

Mrs. H. H. Thomas has bought the stable lot, near the Methodist church, which she sold some time ago to Judge Murray.

Visitors are leaving Porter Springs rapidly now, and in a very short time not one will be left and the place will present a desolate appearance.

The fall session of the Dahlonega public school opened last Tuesday with a large attendance. All the teachers had returned from their vacation and were promptly ready at their posts of duty.

Merchant M. J. Williams has moved his stock of goods into the store room recently vacated by Mr. J. H. McKee in the Masonic building where he will be glad to receive a call from his patrons and friends.

Persons who attended Loudsville camp meeting in White county last Sunday say that there were but few people there. Loudsville is an old camp ground but it has about seen its best day with some improvements are made.

One night last week nearly everything Mrs. Robt. Howell, formerly of Dahlonega but now of Dalton, was destroyed by fire. It originated in the kitchen and when they awoke it was almost consumed. Then the dwelling was destroyed.

We are told by some of those who attended Loudsville camp meeting that some one rocked the arbor while services were being held and the preacher was at prayer. This was bad conduct and the strong arms of the law should get a grip on the perpetrator.

Capt. Asbury was in the city last week attending the public sales and bought the property of the Dyer heirs for $185.25. While here the Captain said that he wanted another reunion of the old Confederate soldiers either in Dahlonega or at Cleveland in October.

Court before last a true bill was returned against Mrs. Frannie Black, of this county, charging her with misdeemeanor. Mr. John Lingerfelt signed her bond which was forfeited at the last term of the court. And on last Monday her bondsman brought the defendant in and turned her over to the sheriff.

Mr. James Arrendale, of Missouri, attended the sale here last Tuesday of his deceased father's property by the administrator and bid in the farming interest of nine and a half lots for $50 and the one-fourth mineral interest in one for $5. Total $55. It is good property but Mr. Arrendale was the only bidder.

The revivals for August in this county resulted in many accessions to the church, more than we ever heard of before in this section in one month. Out at Jay last Sunday 7 persons who had united with Hightower church were baptized, and up at Nimblewill 28 were emersed. Nearly every other church in the county has grown likewise.

Dr. N. F. Howard occupied the pulpit at the Methodist church, both at 11 o'clock and at night last Sunday, having a very good congregation both times. The Doctor cannot see to read his text and has to depend upon his memory, which is very good for he was a constant reader of the Bible when able to see and is well posted with its doctrine.

We noticed, while in Dawson county last Sunday, that her bottom land corn is fine and will make a large yield.

Mr. McKee finished moving his stock of goods last week and left for Dawson county on Monday to continue his business at McKee.

The state and county taxes in Lumpkin is $120, the same as last year, which will make it right interesting to the tax payers, but it can't be avoided.

Jim Gross, of Dawson county, charged with being interested in an illicit distillery found near his premises some time ago, was tried and acquitted here this week.

Mr. Jess Chatton and his brother Sam are putting Mr. Littlefield's house through a rush. They are first-class workmen and know the kick it is done with.

Mr. Robt. Chatton died at his home in Davis' district last Friday night after an illness of about three months. He leaves a young wife and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

Send in your orders for tickets and have them ready for the election. We print them nice and cheap. Orders from adjoining counties will receive prompt attention.

Mr. Carlile, the civil engineer in the employ of the Gainesville & Dahlonega Electric Railway Co., came up last Saturday from Gainesville and returned the following day.

Prof. J. S. Stewart, president of the N. G. A. College, returned home last Friday after an absence of some time in various places traveling in the interest of this institution, accompanied by his wife and children who have been on a visit to Marietta, Ga.

For the first time in years we saw Mr. Daniel Hyden, last Sunday, the oldest person in Lumpkin county, being 106. He was sitting out in his porch watching the people go to and from camp meeting. He is enjoying good health and we trust that he will live many more years to come.

Elsewhere will be found the announcement of Mr. J. W. West for tax receiver on the independent ticket. Mr. West is a clever man, has a host of friends but few of them will help him in this move as it is no time for independents. A man must be on one side of the fence or the other.

One of the professors of the college informs us that it is believed that the fall session of the N. G. A. College will open with an attendance of about 140 pupils. This institution is widely known and its benefits are attracting the attention of the people everywhere. If a young man or young lady wants a good cheap thorough collegiate education this is the place to come. It has many advantages over other institutions of learning in Georgia.

In company with Hon. G. D. Bruce, the next representative from Lumpkin county, and Messrs. G. H. McGuire, M. J. Williams, J. E. Tate and Geo. Marlow, we visited Lumpkin camp meeting last Sunday. We went to see and been and were certainly noticed by one young lady. She was red headed, pigeon-toed and had a wart on the end of her nose. She looked at us and we looked at her. We first thought that it was love at first sight but afterwards found out that it was our gingham shirt bosom, President suspenders and butterfly scarf pin that were attracting her attention. She was not a resident of Dawson county, but was only passing through making notes of curiosities and odd apparel attracted her attention. Well, there were a great many people at meeting.

It was a beautiful day and people from every direction for miles around. We saw friends there whom we had not met in many years before. At 9 o'clock the good brothers and sisters met under the arbor and told their experience to Rev. W. A. Parks. They shouted and had a joyful time.

More rain to-day.

Solicitor General Charters is courting in Clarkesville this week.

N. G. A. College students have already commenced arriving.

College and Society stationery for sale by J. F. Moore & Co.

Sheriff Davis has sold his Nimblewill farm to his brother, William Davis.

The price of new brandy down at the Lumpkin camp ground was $1.00 per quart.

We have been supplying some of our Dawson county patrons with job work this week.

Col. Lilly has been on the sick list for several days this week, unable to attend to much business.

Don't wait till your subscription to the NUGGET expires, but if you wish to take it on renew in time.

We are requested to state that there will be preaching at the Baptist church next Sunday at 11 o'clock and at night.

There is a good deal of brandy being manufactured in Lumpkin county but Mr. Tom Sain is the only one making it according to law.

Miss Mirtie and Miss Nannie Thomas returned home Wednesday afternoon after a nine week's visit down in Hall and Jackson counties.

It won't be long now until the telephone line, from here to Gainesville, will change hands and we will have one of the best systems in the state.

The city council has made a pond large enough out in front of Mr. S. Rices to produce enough frogs and mosquitos to furnish music for the whole town.

We are not running the NUGGET for pleasure but for profit, and if you don't want to pay for it and try to get the dead head, we don't want that kind of patronage.

Dahlonega is badly in need of a first-class dentist. No longer than this week a gentleman here had to go all the way to Gainesville—25 miles—with the toothache before he could be relieved of the pain.

The actions of the mining strikers in West Virginia in burning property and shooting guards should be a warning to all our Lumpkin county miners not to go to such places, but to remain at home in peace and harmony where there has never yet been a strike and no use for any.

We had a business call last Tuesday from Rev. V. A. Higgins of Auraria, Ga. Mr. Higgins is an old school mate of the writer and we like to have a visit from one with whom we have spent so many pleasant hours in our school boy days in the years of long ago.

One day last week while Mr. David Jarrard, of this county, was working in his mill near Porter Springs, his long beard got caught in a shaft and it was with much difficulty that he was freed from being pulled into the machinery and killed. It took very hard pulling to extricate himself and when he did he said that his jaw popped. His chin and neck are still very sore. Mr. Jarrard has worn long beard ever since we can remember and the loss of it now causes him to look quite odd.

Gen. A. J. Warner, once of Ohio and now of Dahlonega Ga., is now quoted by the Washington Post as saying: "I had rather have the water powers of North Georgia than all the gushers of Texas; the one will give out as I have seen gas and oil disappear in sections of the West, while the other will be as strong a thousand years from today as it is present." The county I speak of is going to be in the years to come one of the great industrial districts of the Union. Its people have just begun to understand the folly of sending to the Northern coal fields for power when nature has placed in their hands an immeasurable and never failing supply.

Rev. Mr. Pierce, after taking in several camp meetings, has returned and is back at his post.

Mrs. Sallie Meaders, after an absence of several months down the country, returned this week on a visit.

Another refreshing rain fell on Tuesday night, just one week from the time of the last one, catching a good deal of fodder down.

Mrs. J. B. Gaston, of Gainesville, Ga., came up on a visit to relatives in Dahlonega this week for the first time in several years.

The power house down at New Bridge, being constructed by the Gainesville & Dahlonega Electric Railway Co., is about completed.

The man who stole the preacher's shirt down at Auraria recently is still hiding out, but has been seen several times. If he went to North Carolina he didn't remain there long. He still holds his membership in the church but will be tossed overboard as soon as the regular meeting is held.

Commissioner of Pensions, J. W. Lindsey, writes Judge Huff that owing to the increase of applications for pensions he requests him to get up all his applications by September 15th, and send them in immediately after that date to his office so that he may have time to dispose of them in October 1st. These are new applicants.

Mr. McClure, the nominee of the democratic party for the senate, is now in this county shaking hands with the boys, and on his way to White to feel of their pulse up that way. Mr. McClure is a fine man and would get a good vote whether he came out to see the people at all or not, as the men of them know that he is a safe man.

The first new syrup for this season was brought in last Tuesday for pleasure but for profit, and if you don't want to pay for it and try to get the dead head, we don't want that kind of patronage.

Last Tuesday the NUGGET office had a pleasant call from Mr. J. R. Arrendale, his wife and little boy, of Missouri. Mr. Arrendale left this county many years ago before we were large enough to know anything about him, but since our recent acquaintance we find him like all the rest of the Arrendale brothers—clever, sociable, and a gentleman in every respect. In taking his departure when quite young he was in search of wealth and we are glad to say that he has long since succeeded, finding it. Besides his other valuables, Mr. Arrendale owns a fourth interest in a patent light in St. Louis which is about to be sold to a firm in Beaumont, Texas, that will accumulate his already big wealth many thousands of dollars. It is always a pleasure for us to be able to mention the success of any of the old Lumpkin county boys.

On Tuesday last news reached this place that Mr. Will Woody, a son of Mr. Peter Woody residing in the lower part of the county, lost his life while at work in Mr. Jud Whelchel's well by drowning over come by gas. The well was started about two years ago and was about 50 feet deep. Mr. Woody had contracted to complete it. He worked in it on Monday and if there was any bad air in the well the first day he never mentioned it. So on Tuesday in a minute or two after he went down he yelled to be drawn out and when they got him a considerable distance from the bottom he fell back. A pipe was at once placed into the well and a bellows put to work and in three hours from the time the accident occurred the deceased was pulled out by a rope and windlass. The long fall had broken his neck. The deceased leaves a wife and three little children alone to take care of themselves the last they can. It is certainly a sad affair.

Mr. J. B. Caldwell was in town last Wednesday with several samples of coal which was discovered on his property this week in the upper part of the county, near the foot of the Blue Ridge. It was tested in a furnace here and convinced all who saw it that it was the pure stuff. Not having any tools to dig with at the time, he took out a peck with his hands where it was sticking up through a hard formation. It was first discovered by his wife while hunting the cows. Sixteen years ago David Long informed us that he had found some coal up near the mountains, and a few years ago Capt. W. J. Worley of Dahlonega, found a piece on this same lot. At the time he made a note of its location and secured an option on the property but no other investigation was made. But this time it has already created much interest and parties are going up to day to look about it.

Mining Notes.

Work is to be resumed at the Hamby mine in White county at an early day under the supervision of Mr. Martin of that country.

The recent clean up down at the Butterford by Mr. McAfee proved the ore from the four different veins to average eight dollars per ton.

The Hager dredge boat down at New Bridge has been hung up for several days on account of striking a rock and will be unable to move until the water rises in the river.

The clean up at the Turkey Hill mine, a few days ago of a two week's run, was much better than the previous run of three weeks with the same number of hands. It is paying well.

Mr. Breymann still continues giving the mining being done on the Standard property his personal attention, as the preachers say, the undivided attention, and by this means he will know exactly the value and cost of mining the property without depending on any hearsays.

The fourth interest in lot of land purchased here last Tuesday by Mr. James Arrendale contains two known valuable minerals—iron and mica. The pieces of mica at a depth of only four feet are six or eight inches square clear of seams, and the size of the iron bed is not known.

Work is progressing at the pyrite mine in this county in a manner to show that its owners mean business. A saw mill is already in working order right close to the mine turning out lumber for the intended buildings and to timber the large shaft, the ground for it having already been cleaned off ready to start.

This week Messrs. Sovey, Treagent and G. D. Bruce obtained a lease on the celebrated Barlow property. Messrs. Sovey and Treagent are northern gentlemen who are interested in the Briar Patch mine, and Mr. Bruce is a resident of this county who superintended the Barlow for many years before it changed hands.

They anticipate rebuilding the dam and operating the mine like it used to be when it paid such big dividends.

Mr. Breymann has sold his mining boat down in the Chestatee river and this week it commenced working under its new ownership, Messrs. Ingersoll, Crissons and Keanum. Mr. Keanum has been in charge of this boat for a number of years, always causing it to pay its owners a good profit, and now that he has taken an interest in it clearly demonstrates that he has the utmost confidence in its future operations, causing the others interested to feel likewise. They have also ordered lumber for the construction of one to be put in the same river above the Chestatee Company's dam. This is right in the heart of the gold belt and with the concern in the hands of such practical men as these they are bound to make it a success.

'QUE FOR EDITORS.

All Georgia's Newspaper Men Invited to One Oct. 11th.

The Southern Inter-State Fair, Atlanta, has invited all the Georgia Editors to visit the Fair Saturday October 11th.

The Editors will be given a barbecue and shown all the sights on the grounds. Picnics will be held in the great stand at the fairs in the afternoon, and there will be a magnificent display of fireworks for them at night.

The Fair Directors appreciate the aid which the daily and weekly papers always give to the fairs, and they are in this way to show their appreciation.

GEORGIA'S MAYORS.

The Mayors of Georgia will hold a convention in Atlanta Tuesday, Oct. 11th. Mayor Mims, of Atlanta, has called the convention, and Mayor Bridges Smith, of Macon, will preside.

In the afternoon, the Mayors will entertain a barbecue by the Inter-State Fair, and they will be the Fair's guests that day and night.

SKY LINE ON A BUTTON.

Atlanta has more tall buildings than any other southern city. The Empire, eight stories high, was the first modern office building erected there. They have been building taller ones ever since. The Empire is fourteen stories high, and now one of the hands is getting ready to build a skyscraper sixteen stories high, or even higher. The total cost $145,000 six months ago. Sixty years ago this lot sold for $600. Frank Wadson, Secretary of the Fair, has adopted a picture of tall buildings as a fit emblem for an Atlanta button to advertise the big fair, October 8-25.

Buffaloes which once roamed the western prairies in herds numbering thousands, are now almost extinct. It is seldom that a buffalo is seen outside Yellow Stone Park, where the Government is trying to preserve a few specimens of this animal. Half a dozen parks and menageries have from one to half a dozen buffaloes.

The Southern Inter-State Fair, Atlanta, is advertising for a small herd to be exhibited free at the fair grounds.

$25,000 IN PREMIUMS.

Copies of the Atlanta Fair's live stock industry and agriculture catalog have just arrived at this office. The Fair offers $25,000.00 in premiums and prizes. Copy of the premium list may be obtained by writing Frank Wadson, Secretary, Atlanta.

The Fair has spent thousands of dollars in former years on its live stock shows.

In order to bring out more cattle on the fair grounds for cattle premiums this year are restricted to the south. In former years, the professional exhibitors from the north and west have come south and carried away thousands of dollars in prizes.

This time the money is offered only to southern herds, and it is believed that this will bring out a large display of home cattle.

A Breezy Day in Douglas.

Douglas has had a little warm "spell," writes a correspondent of the Arizona Republican. The thermometer stood at 106° in the icebox, but as there was no ice in it at the time the mercury was excusable. Those warm days the valley is entertained and malaria dissipated by an endless succession of little corkscrew winds. They are about as big around as an old maid's waist and about a mile high. They go waltzing along among the mesquites and across the street, where the dust is so deep you have to wear snowshoes and they will chase you as a coyote chases a jackrabbit, till they catch you, dose your nose and ears full of sand and skip merrily away, almost laughing at you. I saw one yesterday that filled the heavens with everything, from a Police Gazette to a War Cry.

"Go Way 'Back and—"

A lawyer tells how a small boy once got the best of him in cross-examination. Part of the questioning and replies are as follows:

"Have you any occupation?"
"No."
"Just loaf around home?"
"That's about all."
"What does your father do?"
"Nothing much."
"Doesn't he do anything to support the home?"
"He does odd jobs once in a while when he can get them."

"As a matter of fact, isn't your father a pretty worthless fellow, always fighting and a loafer?"
"I don't know, sir; you'd better ask him. He's sittin' over there on the jury."

Household Hints.

Flour should be kept in a barrel, with a flour scoop to dip it and a sieve to sift it.

Ceilings that have been smoked by a kerosine lamp should be washed off with soda water.

Brass may be beautifully cleaned and polished with a paste made of emery powder and paraffin.

Good graham crackers are better for the little one to munch with its trial teeth than white biscuits or bread.

Never throw water from boiled beans down the sink; it leaves an odor no sweater than the water in which cabbage has been cooked.

Perfectly plain, tall white glass beakers, that allow the beautiful foliage of the flowers to show through are a new and pretty idea for holding roses for the centre of the dining table.

Grease on silk may be removed with powdered chalk or magnesia. Place the powder on the spot and then hold in near the fire. The grease will thus soon be absorbed and may be brushed off with the powder.

Spots on a silk blouse can be cleaned with benzine. Use a piece of new, clean flannel and rub gently, afterwards exposing the garment in the air to dry. On no account use the benzine near light, as it is highly inflammable.

Contested Seats in Congress.

Under the law every contestant for a seat in congress is allowed $2,000 for expenses, provided the contest is regular, and it is remarkable that in nearly every such case the contestant finds that his expenses foot up just the $2,000. Congressman Tompkins of the Twelfth Ohio district, whose seat was contested by John J. Lentz, is a notable exception to the general rule. Mr. Tompkins sent in a bill for $1,500,00, positively refusing to charge the government a penny more than was right.

It is said that a woman is no older than she looks and a man is no older than he feels. Certainly the age at which bachelors and old maids become old depends very much upon themselves.

The man or woman who possesses a well regulated mind and a kind, pleasant disposition is never referred to as an "old bachelor" or "old maid."

A selfish, irritated man is a miserable old bachelor." The term "old maid" is frequently given to the woman who interferes with everybody, and does her best to make life miserable.

The square man measures the same each way and hasn't any crooked or cheap lumber about him. He is free from knots and sap and won't warp. He is clear stuff and it makes no difference what you work him up into, he won't shrink. He is among men that good kin dried boards are among carpenters, won't season or crack. It doesn't make any difference which side of him you come up to, he is the same bigness each way, and the only way to get at him anyhow is to face him. He knows he is square and he never spends any time trying to prove it. The square man is one of the best shaped men the world has ever produced. He is one of those kind of chunks you can't alter to fit the spot, but must alter the spot to him.

A man may build a palace or a castle, but he wise as a Solomon and rich as Cresus, he cannot build a home. No man can do this alone; he must have a woman to help him; it is the husband and wife together who build the home. If the husband is temperate, ill-natured, indeliciate, cross and exciting, the wife cannot make the home what it ought to be, no matter how wise, loving and prudent. Enlightened motherhood needs enlightened fatherhood to make the home what it should be, the great civilizing and uplifting agency of the world.

In The Shade of Pines.

Some time ago Mr. Dukes of Colquitt county, Georgia, determined to try the experiment of planting peach trees under the shade of pine trees for protection from the cold winter and the heat in summer. The Moultrie News, which records the experiment, says:

"If there be those who doubt that the plan will work, they ought to stroll through this orchard. The trees themselves have furnished, and their growth does not seem to have been hindered in the least by their surroundings. Trees younger than three years are so loaded down with fruit that in many instances the limbs have broken. This departure in peach-growing has excited attention all over the state. State Entomologist W. S. Scott came all the way from Atlanta recently to witness the experiment, and after a thorough investigation pronounced it a great success. That the fruit grown at this orchard is the highest quality can be attested by almost the entire community. The local dealers have handled it since it began to ripen, and Mr. Dukes' wagon can be seen every morning delivering fresh peaches to his customers for the day's sales."

Macon, Ga., seems to be a wholesale market for cow peas. She is now planning to ship 100 car loads this season. A car load is about 500 bushels.

requires physical and mental ability of a high degree to withstand its hard labors. The high tension to which the nervous system is constantly subjected, has a depressing effect, and soon headache, backache, neuralgia, rheumatism, sciatica, etc., develop in severe forms. Such was the case of Mail Carrier S. F. Stewart, of Dahlonega, Ga., who says:

"An attack of rheumatism left me with muscular rheumatism, headache, and pains that seemed to be all over me. I could not sleep at night for a month when I decided to give up Dr. Pain Pills.

N. G. A. College, Dahlonega, Ga.

In response to a number of recent inquiries from parties asking:

"Where can I place my son (or daughter) so that he (she) may receive a good education and yet without any great expense?"

The United States Trade Reports, in a recent issue of that widely circulated paper says—

"Realizing the importance of the subject and the confidence that would be repose in our answer and recommendation we have made a careful investigation of the standing and character of all the leading educational institutions, and, with due respect to many that offer good advantages, we must concede our preference for the North Georgia Agricultural College, at Dahlonega, Ga. This college is conducted on the co-education of sexes plan, and offers exceptional advantages, and at prices especially arranged for students of limited means."

"The courses of study are broad and liberal and embrace every requirement of modern education, refinement and culture. The faculty is composed of instructors especially qualified in theory and practice to teach, and one of the features of the work in this college is the attention bestowed upon the individual education of the pupils."

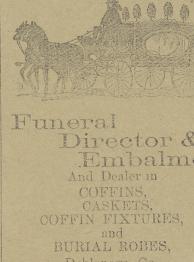

"The buildings occupied are large and commodious and every facility and convenience is provided for the pupils. The living apartments are neatly furnished, while the table menu is selected and prepared from the best of country produce."

"The laboratories, library and recitation rooms are provided with every essential requisite to the proper study and explanation of the lessons taught. Military discipline prevails at the college, and is of first importance, and influence, moral, social, religious, educational and physical is all that could be asked by any parent solicitous for the welfare of his child, while the climate in which Dahlonega, Ga., is situated is always of a character that is invigorating and health giving to the best degrees."

"Therefore in view of these carefully ascertained facts we have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending the North Georgia Agricultural College to those who have requested this information, to whom we would respectfully suggest that for further and detailed information regarding this model college and its most admirable system and method of education, they write its President, Joseph S. Stewart, A. M."

"The North Georgia Agricultural College is prosperous, and is doing a work unsurpassed perhaps in importance and value by any other institution of learning in the South."—From Governor Candler's Message to General Assembly.

Patents.

Did you ever think much about patents? Perhaps you have not given the subject very much consideration. If you will journey up to Washington and spend a few days in the Patent Office and examine every model and drawing there, from the Pullman car, the printing press that prints 40,000 newspapers in an hour, the latest harvester, the air brake, the electrical inventions, the talking machine, the telegraphic instrument that sends the news around the world in less than half a minute and so on down through the seven hundred and seven thousand five hundred and thirty inventions, to the lead pencil with rubber in one end of it, out of which it's inventor made over $100,000, the trip will prove an interesting one and perhaps enlarge your ideas on patents. Almost every article of human convenience or utility is, or has been the subject of a patent. Behind all patents there must necessarily be invention.

At the Worlds Fair in Paris, in 1900, America was declared to be the home of the great inventions. Thomas A. Edison has taken out over seven hundred patents.

Have you ever heard a fellow, who seemed to forget that the block his hat was made on, were patents, say, that he never saw a patent that was any account? Perhaps he had bought some patent right and failed to make money on it.

America leads the world in patents. It is a great business with a future.

Peculiar Rainstorms.

There is at least one place in the United States where a man may be out in a heavy rain and not get wet even though he has neither mackintosh nor umbrella. In the Colorado desert they have rainstorms during which not a drop of water touches the earth. The rain can be seen falling from the clouds high above the desert, but when the water reaches the stratum of hot, dry air beneath the clouds it is entirely absorbed before falling half the distance to the ground. It is a singular sight to witness a heavy down-pour of rain not a drop of which touches the ground.

A friend's Advice.

Jack—I have a chance to marry a poor girl whom I love, or a rich girl whom I don't love. What would you advise?

George—Love is the salt of life, my friend. Without it all else is naught. Love, pure love, makes poverty wealth, pain a joy, earth a heaven.

Jack—Enough! I will marry the poor girl whom I love.

George—Bravely spoken! By the way, would you—er—mind introducing me to the rich woman whom you do no love?—New York Weekly.

Against Pardon Board.

Bainbridge Argus: We mean the state board of pardons. What excuse has it got for living another day? None. Clean it out, gentlemen of the Legislature, and stand not upon the order of your kicking and kick like mules. Down with the pardon board! The Governor does not and ought not to need its assistance in the consideration of pardon cases. He has the attorney general at his elbow when he needs legal advice or assistance. Then why should he have the assistance of this fifth wheel of a pardon board? Kick 'em out and save the salaries to the tax payers. Do we make ourselves plain?

The Candidate.

He cometh up like a flower and retrief from the race bursted. His friends fill him with false hopes and atmosphere.

He swelleth like a toad and thinketh the world his'n. He smileth upon all mankind and sloppeth over with good humor. He kissoth the children and scattereth his microbes among innocent babes. He cheweth a clove when he meeteth the parson, and as he converseth with him he standeth seaward and carbeth his breath as with a strong hit. He goeth home late at night to his weary wife with a beery breath and cold feet. He riseth up early in the morning and goeth forth without his breakfast, saying, "I go to see a man."

The dead beat lieth in wait and pulleth his leg to the queen's taste. He "naileth" a lie, but before election day comes he runneth short of nails. He giveth liberally to the church, he subscribeth a good sum to the band boys, contributes to the poor man whose barn was burned, he sendeth a little keg hither and a big keg thither; he yeideth up the substance with alacrity. After the election he goeth behind the barn and kicketh himself and calleth himself a Rotterdam fool. He returneth to the house and addresseth himself to the wife of his bosom, saying: "Behold a driveling idiot look now upon a be-trotted fool; gaze upon a dodged simpleton; cast your eyes upon a headlessedly gobs who has not sense enough to carry onions to a bear."

Then his wife replyeth: "I told you so," whichoth him to go forth into the frosty air and drown his sorrow in a drink of soda pop.—Ex.

Remarkable Ideas of Beauty.

It is remarkable to learn the extraordinary ideas of female beauty which characterize different nations. The ladies of Arabia stain their fingers and toes red, their eyebrows black and their lips blue. In Persia they paint a black streak around their eyes and ornament their faces with representations of various figures.

The Japanese women adopt the singular method of gilding their teeth, and those of the Indians paint them red. In some parts of India the pearl of the tooth must be dyed black before a woman can be beautiful. The Hottentot women paint the entire body in compartments of red and black.

The Bone of Contenton.

"Dad, can you answer a question now, or are you too busy?" asked the 7-year-old heir, says the Baltimore Sun. "You told me always to ask you about anything I didn't know."

"Quite right, my son," said the fond parent. "I wish you to grow up a wise and observant man. Never be afraid of showing your ignorance and your store of knowledge will steadily increase. What is it this time?"

"The other day I heard some one talk about the bone of contention, dad, and I should like you to tell me which part of the body it is in. Which is it?"

"Henry, my son," said his father, solemnly—after casting a glance around to see if mother was in the way—"the bone of contention is the jawbone of a woman. Always be careful of it, Henry."

And Henry promised he would,

Three Crops in a Season.

Some of my neighbors say that my eleven-acre farm produces more than an adjoining 50 acre farm. It is not only the "little farm well tilled" that comes out ahead; that little farm must also be filled with growing crops in their season in order that it may bring the best results. To illustrate I will give a short chapter from my own experience. Some time in April I planted early peas on well prepared, fertile soil, drilling the seed in rows five feet apart. After the peas were up the ground was kept free of weeds and thoroughly cultivated. About May 15 I marked the ground out for muskmelons, planting a row of melons half way between the rows of peas. The peas were picked green for market and the vines pulled and fed to the Jersey cow. Now, for a time, the cultivator had fair play on the melon patch. After going over the ground for the last time before the vines reached out to take full possession, turnip seed was sown over the entire ground. After the melons had been harvested and the frost had killed the vines the ground was covered with turnips, which had ample time to produce a good crop before winter set in. This is only one way of keeping the ground fully occupied and not waste the fertility of the soil in growing a crop of weeds.—Practical Farmer.

A Town's Looking Glass.

The newspapers of a town are like looking glasses, and you see yourself as others see you. If your town is doing business, the local paper will show it in its advertising columns, but if the merchants are scared, spiritless men, with stores of good all jumbled together and no business doing, the newspapers will show it by the lack of space they take. If you want settlers in your town, or if you want to make your town a live town, the best way to do it is to keep your advertisement constantly before the public in your local paper. Who wants to settle in a dead town, whose merchants are too scared to let outside people know there is any business in the town? For live merchants watch the ads. in these columns.—Titusville (Fla.) Advocate.

Words of Wisdom.

Rectitude is a perpetual victory. Self-trust is the essence of heroism. Nature hates monopolies and exceptions.

Nature loves analogies, but not repetitions.

Men are respectable only as they respect.

Obedience gives alone the right to command.

Sincere and happy conversation doubles our powers.

The beautiful rests on the foundations of the necessary.

A man told us the other day that we did not publish all the things that happened. We should say we don't. In the first place we have others who depend on us for a living. If we publish all that happened we would soon be with the angels. In order to please the people we must print only just the nice things about them and leave the rest to gossip.

Yes, it's a fact, we don't print all the news. If we did wouldn't it make spicy reading? But this would be for one week only. The next you would read our obituary and there would be another editor, and there would be another in heaven.—Marietta Journal.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 12, 1902.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga., Post Office as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

FOR GOVERNOR,
HON. J. M. TERRELL,
OF
MERIWETHER COUNTY.

Atlanta has 18,000 school children.

President Roosevelt spent last Sunday in Chattanooga viewing the historic battlefield.

Mr. Berney Dunn, residing near Sparta, Ga., committed suicide by cutting his throat with a razor.

But little hope is entertained for Judge Lewis' recovery, who recently resigned from the supreme bench.

In a sermon delivered in New York Sunday, Rev. Dr. McArthur denounced the doctrine of Baptist as heathenism.

Let all true democrats support every one of the nominees and leave no gaps down for the republicans to cross through.

Eighteen aldermen of St. Louis have been indicted for selling franchises to street railway corporations one turned state's evidence.

In Indiana the other day a lion trainer put his head in the beast's mouth and it closed its jaws and the man came near loosing his head. He is considerably mangled but will live.

A tannery which will cover 25 acres of ground is to be built at Mineral Bluff, and it will give employment to about 300 men. Eastern capital is behind the enterprise.

Saturday night escaping gas from a large main sewer in Atlanta caused a terrible explosion at the corner of Decatur and Pryor Streets. Following were several others of similar character. Eight hundred telephone wires are gone and the damage amounts to $15,000.

Miss Martha Heflin, a beautiful young girl working for Chamberlain-Johnson-Dubose Co. was arrested last week charged with the theft of $300 worth of fine goods, which were found at her home. She is a leading contestant in a beauty show being run by the Wiley Candy Co. But this will spoil her appearance.

The part which the postal employees are to be permitted to take in political campaigns is outlined in the following instructions, which follow Postmaster-General Payne's addressed to a postmaster who sent a letter of inquiry: "You are not prohibited from joining a political club nor making voluntary financial contributions, outside of the government office or building, nor from acting as a delegate to county, state or congressional conventions. You should not, however, serve as chairman of state and county committees, nor take an active part in conducting political conventions or make yourself unduly prominent in political matters."

The most peculiar and unique robbery that ever occurred in the history of Spalding county occurred Wednesday. Stamps a good old colored woman, was robbed of two crisp $20 bills while sitting in the court house where Judge E. W. Hammond was holding the city court of Griffin. Her son, Henry Stamps, was on trial for carrying a pistol concealed, and she was awaiting the verdict of the jury, holding in her hand his money to pay his fine in case he was convicted. Around her were gathered about fifty negroes, parties or witnesses attending the court. Suddenly the money was missed and the alarm was given. Sheriff Freeman searched several of the negroes nearest her, but found nothing. Later one stole the Judge's new fall hat and left an old dirty one in exchange.

Mont Pelée's volcane have claimed 50,000 people within the past few months, two thousand being killed at one blast recently.

Gov. Candler last week appointed Judge Gober, of Marietta, to succeed Judge Hal T. Lewis on the supreme bench but he refused to accept. Then Samuel B. Adams, a prominent lawyer of Savannah was chosen.

There are 27 candidates for treasurer in White and seven for clerk of Superior Court. There will be no primary in that county, but the ballot has been pulled off and all who desire are allowed the use of political track.

During the twenty nine years since the Methodist orphan's home was established at Macon, 1,200 orphans have been received and nurtured. Of the total number 1,100 have been furnished homes in private families.

We understand that the present candidates for the legislature and county offices in Lumpkin county will retire after this and give way for new men next time. That is those who have been holding offices two or three terms. That's right. Give some one else a chance and everything will work in harmony and cause no discord in the democratic ranks.

This year the republicans of Lumpkin county have kicked the negroes out of their political gatherings, which is causing a good deal of dissatisfaction among the colored brothers. One remarked the other day that if Rucker had any appointments to make here after he would be certain to remember those taking such actions against the negroes here and leave them left out too.

Since Billy, the infant editor of the Signal, has taken in a republican for a partner he calls the democratic party "our party," for the first time since he has been old enough to talk. Pretty checky, isn't he? Equal to a brass monkey, and as to politics this kind of a monkey would have just as much influence, for he has not been able to control his own vote yet. But the use of oily white republican cough syrup may bring him out all right.

Mr. A. R. Wilson shipped the two largest watermelons he raised this year to Washington, D. C., last Friday. They weighed 78 and 75 pounds respectively, and Mr. Wilson received for them $35 each. They were not as large as the melons he raised last year, as he pulled one out that weighed 110 pounds.

Notwithstanding Uncle Tilman Davis, of Porter Springs district, is 72 years old or over, his actions the other night showed that there is plenty of life and activity in the old man yet. He had pulled off his shoes, blew out the light and was retiring for the night and when reaching the bedside he stepped on a snake. It is useless to try to tell how quick he jumped up and lit on the bed and soon began calling his son to come in and make a light. Mr. Davis was afraid to get up to open the door and his son had to climb in at a window. The snake was found and killed and the old gentleman didn't sleep until just before day, and then he dreamed of snakes.

Last week the revenue officers found two boys doing illicit distilling near Carrollton, Ga. The outfit consisted of 1-pint cyster can for the raw material and a 10 cent snuff box for a doubler or condenser. These vessels were connected by a metal pipe one-eighth of an inch in diameter, and from the condenser issued a second pipe into a box through, where the customary worm was joined and through which the finished product poured. The outfit had all the essential parts of the modern distillery and was in active operation on Sunday, when the officers arrived.

The Columbus Enquirer-Sun in commenting upon the recent lynchings in Michigan and Indiana says: Northern people and northern newspapers have indulged in much hypocritical cant in regard to southern lynchings, but it seems that retribution is coming upon them and while such conditions are recretable they may serve to make the south haters more lenient toward this section. The south has always maintained that like causes in the north would produce like results and the Michigan and Indiana affairs go to prove this. In fact these instances show that up there less aggravated causes produce just as serious results.

A BIG REPUBLICAN FIZZLE.

The first campaign circular made its appearance here Friday night. It is against sheriff Jim Davis, and was gotten up by a sore headed democrat in the interest of the republican party and printed at the Signal office. It is just a campaign circular, one that contains no names and amounts to nothing.

Sheriff Jim Davis will receive a good vote, circular or no circular—about 750 or 800 out of the thousand or eleven hundred votes that will be cast. It may be that this circular will have to be reprinted in order to make it a legal republican document on account of the seal of the "Signal Job Print" being left off of the tail end.

This is the opinion of some of our best attorneys.

DEMOCRATIC NOTICE.

The democratic executive committee of Lumpkin county is requested to convene in the court house at Dahlonega, Ga., on Saturday the 20th of September, 1902 at 10 o'clock, a. m., for the purpose of transacting such business as may come before it.

JOHN H. MOORE,

Chairman.

The colored camp meeting at Rock Springs, in White county closed last Monday without any loss of life. There was a large crowd present, much corn whiskey and lively times as usual.

A negro boy, of Cleveland, got shot in one leg by a guard accidentally while the bullet was intended for a negro man, report those who attended from Dahlonega.

A white boy who poured too much liquor in his stomach and shot balls into the air, was arrested and carried to Cleveland. So was a negro who works for Mr. James Hunt at Gainesville. He rode in a fine rig with his sweetheart by his side and what liquor he had not used was a grip carried in his hand. He made bond and returned home to be back again when the Superior Court convenes.

We believe all the Dahlonega negroes have returned right side up with care. None that we have heard of are lost, estrayed or stolen.

Notwithstanding Uncle Tilman Davis, of Porter Springs district, is 72 years old or over, his actions the other night showed that there is plenty of life and activity in the old man yet. He had pulled off his shoes, blew out the light and was retiring for the night and when reaching the bedside he stepped on a snake. It is useless to try to tell how quick he jumped up and lit on the bed and soon began calling his son to come in and make a light. Mr. Davis was afraid to get up to open the door and his son had to climb in at a window. The snake was found and killed and the old gentleman didn't sleep until just before day, and then he dreamed of snakes.

One dwelling house and three acres of land or lots of land No. 304 in the 15th district and 1st section of Lumpkin county, Georgia, known as the John McGee place. Also lot of land No. 103 in the 11th district and 1st section of Lumpkin county, Georgia, containing 40 acres more or less. Lived on as property of J. M. Robinson by virtue of and to satisfy a affidavit issued from the Justices of the 15th District, G. M. F. Fawcett, L. H. Hadley, and O. Walker, with the James M. Robinson. Levy made and returned to me by W. E. Satterfield, L. C. This the 9th day of September, 1902.

Major Chas. Smith (Bill Arp) of Rome, Ga., is desperately sick.

Hill Mobley, a negro who attempted to assault a white girl of 13 in Dooly county, has been lynched.

President Roosevelt couldn't accept Atlanta's invitation to visit that city at this time but will at some future day.

The state democratic executive committee decided last week to let Judge Lewis' place on the supreme bench be filled by the people at the ballot box unless a popular or republican candidate appears on the scene.

Wednesday's mail brings the news that H. W. Gray, Jr., of Atlanta, is missing from Virginia beach. He left his wife on Thursday of last week and has not been seen or heard of since. His friends fear that he may have met with foul play.

Young Plants

Every farmer knows that some plants grow better than others. Soil may be the same and seed may seem the same but some plants are weak and others strong.

And that's the way with children. They are like young plants. Same food, same home, same care but some grow big and strong while others stay small and weak.

Scott's Emulsion offers an easy way out of the difficulty. Child weakness often means starvation, not because of lack of food, but because the food does not feed.

Scott's Emulsion really feeds and gives the child growing strength.

Whatever the cause of weakness and failure to grow—Scott's Emulsion seems to find it and set the matter right.

THE NUGGET

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 12, 1892.

And still they come. What? New subscribers.

New subscribers continue to come in and yo editor is happy.

Hon. Pomp Strickland, of Dawson county, was up first of the week and paid us a pleasant visit.

A large boiler was hauled over to the Pyrites mine, in this country last week, getting ready for business.

We are glad to state that Mr. Joe Rickett has recovered from his late severe spell of sickness enough to be out.

Mr. E. S. Copeland went down to Atlanta last week to be examined for partial deafness but we are sorry to say that Dr. Calhoun gave him no encouragement.

Mr. John Hatfield went up to Clarksville last week to purchase a sonda fount. John is a hustler and proposes to have you some nice and pleasant to drink.

A young man who recently went to Texas writes back for no one to come there this year for they have had the greatest drought ever known in that country before,

Dr. C. C. King, of White Plains, Ga., who attended college here in 1880, came up last week for the purpose of entering his son and another young man of his place.

Al J. F. Moore & Company's you will find a nice lot of beautiful good cheap lamps. Also a few more gallons of new syrup. Yes, and they have both single and double barrel guns, too.

Garland Elrod, the 13-year-old son of the widow Elrod living in the eastern part of this county, died one day this week of typhoid fever. Mrs. Elrod is also very sick with the same disease.

Mr. Charlie Conner, of Gilmer county, was wedded last Sunday to Miss Sallie Montgomery, a daughter of Mr. John Montgomery, of this county. Rev. John Rider performed the ceremony.

What was the reason our Gates subscribers didn't receive their papers last week? There is too much carelessness some where on the line. It left here promptly on time and ought to have reached its destination.

While Will Brooksher was engaged last week in assisting in the hauling of the machinery to the Copper mine the company's big wagon ran over both of his feet, causing much pain and rendering him unable to walk for two or three days.

Mr. G. H. McGuire's patent hillside plows will likely be manufactured at Columbus, Ga., as he forwarded a pattern to the founders of that city this week. The plow has been pronounced by all who have seen and tried it as a most useful invention to the farmer and we see no reason why he can't make a big fortune.

In reply to the merchant's inquiry at Elberton, Ga., will say that there are more stores here now than are doing well. Though it may be because some of them do not advertise and ask the people to trade with them. We have a good free school and college here for those wishing to educate their children but we wouldn't advise any more to come here now expecting to make a living at the mercantile business.

Last Sunday at church there were but four citizens present who could be seen there fifty years ago, being Capt. W. J. Worley, Dr. N. F. Howard, Rev. J. B. Brown and Judge John Huff, and not a single female on hand who attended services there half a century ago. Really the most of them, both men and women, who were then, now living in Dahlonega, can almost be counted on your fingers. They are all gone, the most of them having passed to that world beyond.

Dahlonega hasn't received her "first bale" of cotton yet.

Quite a number of persons from this place went down to Auraria last Sunday to attend the baptizing of eleven persons.

Remember that the NUGGET is all home print, "all wool and a yard wide," and those who subscribe for it are sure to get the worth of their money.

We have not had enough rain yet to do the miners any good. There are many places you can cross the Chestatee river on the shoals without getting your feet wet.

The fall session of the N. G. A. College commenced here Wednesday with a splendid attendance, and our streets are again lively by the many young men who have come here to receive an education. They all have our best wishes in this important undertaking.

In reference to the lease of the Barlow property last week we said that Mr. G. D. Bruce and Messrs. Sovey and Tregant had secured it, when it should have been Mr. J. F. Bruce and these gentlemen, Mr. G. D. Bruce is our representative who does not mind any but makes laws.

Hon. W. H. McAfee has been engaged this week in procuring several different samples of good ore to be shipped to a gentleman in St. Louis, to be tested on a saving machine which he has recently invented. The samples he wished and those being expressed to him are worth over ten dollars per ton.

On last Sunday "Choctaw" Davis put on his overalls and started down on Tan Yard branch to mine, thinking that it was Saturday and didn't know any better until he met Mr. E. E. Crissom. This caused him to return home, change his suit, lube his pipe and go out in town and join the "Sons of Rest" for the day.

The agent of the Quinby property in this county and the parties preparing to cut the Briar Patch ditch, not being able to agree upon the damages to the said property a board of arbitration consisting of Messrs. John Jenkins, J. B. Clements and W. J. Hightower went over last Saturday and after making an examination fixed the amount at $40.

We made a little trip out into White county last Sunday and found the corn crop short up there as well as in Lumpkin. There are many acres of up land that will make nothing comparatively speaking. White is a good farming county and always produces enough corn for home consumption and some to sell, but this year there are many farmers who will have to buy the most of their corn. While on the trip we attended a baptizing at Town Creek—18 in number, and then listened to a very able sermon delivered by Rev. Mel. Kinsey. His congregation was very large and attentive.

Every time Mr. Breymann passes "Uncle" Mart Hashaw, a very old negro, he gives him a nickel or a dime. To give him a nickel he makes a very polite bow, and a dime causes the old man to lean still lower. So Mr. Breymann decided to give the old negro a half dollar the other day just to see what he would do. When the money was placed in the hands of "Uncle" Mart he was so astonished and dumfounded that he forgot to even say thank you. We are often too forgetful of being thankful. Take for instance the college appropriations received here. Until recent years when a representative secured an appropriation it was tendered a banquet on his return home. At the last session, when Hon. G. D. Bruce helped to get a larger appropriation by several thousand dollars than before he was not even thanked or asked to partake of a sumptuous dinner, but on the other hand some tried to induce a representative to run to see if he couldn't be defeated this time.

In reply to the merchant's inquiry at Elberton, Ga., will say that there are more stores here now than are doing well. Though it may be because some of them do not advertise and ask the people to trade with them. We have a good free school and college here for those wishing to educate their children but we wouldn't advise any more to come here now expecting to make a living at the mercantile business.

Last Sunday at church there were but four citizens present who could be seen there fifty years ago, being Capt. W. J. Worley, Dr. N. F. Howard, Rev. J. B. Brown and Judge John Huff, and not a single female on hand who attended services there half a century ago. Really the most of them, both men and women, who were then, now living in Dahlonega, can almost be counted on your fingers. They are all gone, the most of them having passed to that world beyond.

Mr. J. M. Brooksher anticipates going into the mercantile business here first of November.

A new church is being constructed up in Hightower and will soon take the place of old Shady Grove.

Jeff Freeman, of White county, was bound over one day last week by Com. Baker for having been violating the Internal revenue laws.

The United States geologist who has been here for several days has been taking a close observation of the mineral resources of this county.

Fall will soon be here and what a happy time it will be for the farmer when he gathers the products of his labor for the season and gets to take a short rest.

Having moved my business to Dawson county, all persons owing me for goods sold in Dahlonega, are requested to meet me in Dahlonega September 20th for settlement.

Respectfully,
J. H. McKee,

Mr. S. S. Shutte, of Spencerville, Ind., still has an interest in this county. He has been a patron of the NUGGET for three years and sent another wheel last week for a renewal so as to keep up with the moving and other interests here.

Mr. John Bennett, who recently advertised in the NUGGET and had a public sale informs us that it realized $1,000. This is another proof that it pays a person to advertise in a paper that is read by everybody, both old and young, as those not subscribers to the paper below it.

Soapstone has already been discovered in large quantities in Lumpkin county, although we have never seen any mention made of it by the geologists who have visited this section. One quarry, owned by a Massachusetts gentleman has been open for years. And the other belonging to Rev. James Higgins, of this county, was discovered a few years ago and who has a nice large chimney built out of the soapstone.

The tax digests show a considerable decrease in the number of acres of land in this county since 1891. In 1891 the number of acres of land returned in Lumpkin county was 208,692, valued at $46,544. In 1892 it was 206,987, valued at $473,185. Being a decrease in acreage of 1,645 but an increase in value of $3,591. This is a considerable amount of land to be lost in a year and it will pay the tax receiver to look after it.

The finest and largest peaches we have seen this year were brought in last Friday by Mr. John Sain, who resides on the Blue Ridge. They brought him 60 cents per bushel and the load went like hot cakes. His orchard will likely produce a hundred bushels or more. Very often when the frost kills the fruit down in the valleys in this section it is not injured any on the mountains.

But very little was done by the city council at its meeting last week of any importance to the public. The assessment for taxes on the Wimpy mill property, owned by the Standard Co., was reduced $2,000. And the city tax assessors were allowed $80 for their services. The Marshal made his report, showing that he had collected $20,70, since the last meeting—$11.70 for the 2nd quarter of sanitary taxes and $9.00 street taxes.

The court house door facing is filled with notices of parties posting their lands in this county. They have to do it in order to keep trespassers off of it, and when one posts his land it runs the hunters and trespassers on to the other, causing him to have to follow suit. If there is any one else wanting to post their land we have just printed a new lot of blank cards on which you can even give the numbers of your land if you choose. Call in and get some.

The court house roof is being repaired.

A pair of lost specks will be found at B. R. Meaders & Sons store.

Postmaster Tate is having his house wired for electric lights.

There are yet about 25 visitors at Porter Springs in this country.

Mrs. Gaillard, mother of Prof. Gallard, of this place, is up on a visit.

Jim Lingerfelt, of this country, was bound over Wednesday for blockading.

H. D. Gurley has a $500 stock of clothing which he is closing out at absolute cost for the next 60 days.

If you need any letter heads or envelopes printed call at the NUGGET office. We have a large assortment of stationery.

One hundred and thirty-two students entered college Wednesday, day and eighteen to twenty more are already in to enter.

Mr. G. H. McGuire, the jeweler, requests all having work at his shop to come and get it else it will be sold to pay for charges.

Dr. Groye, of Findley, Ohio, in renewing his subscription to the NUGGET this week, says to keep it coming. He wants to hear from Dahlonega.

Prof. W. H. Maxwell, who is teaching at Alpharetta, Ga., passed through Dahlonega last Monday on a little outing with his six boys, aged from 11 to 14.

A large stock of shoes and hats at H. D. Gurley's reduced 20 per cent. A splendid line of all other goods at reduced prices. Call at once if you want good bargains.

The NUGGET is read with interest by people both far and near. Mr. A. H. Farrar, of Kinderhook, N.Y., after doing without it awhile, writes as follows: "Enclosed please find $1.00 for the NUGGET twelve months. I miss it very much."

We noticed our friend and patron, Mr. L. G. Stowers, of Dawson county, up this week with another load of meal. Mr. Stowers furnishes the Dahlonega market with from one to two loads of meal every week and he is a man you never hear crying out hard times.

It seems that there has been a change in the management of the military department of the college here. The commandant who was first appointed will not come, but a Lieutenant from the war department will be sent. Prof. Barnes has charge of the cadets until he arrives.

One or two of the lily white republicans have left the NUGGET, giving their support to the Signal. This you have a perfect right to do, gentlemen, and we feel just as kind towards you now as we did before. Because we differ in politics it is no reason that we should fall out with each other.

We welcome to our city Prof. J. N. Rogers and wife. The Professor and his lady came from Washington county to take charge of the Girl's dormitory of the N. G. A. College. The former will also occupy the chair of agriculture in this institution. Prof. J. C. Barnes, recently elected tutor is also a new addition to the citizenship of Dahlonega this week. Welcome three, welcome to all.

An old lady living down at Mechanicsville, aged 65 or 70, took a notion to marry young John Forester last Sunday who has not been out of his teens very long. The lad told the old woman to dress up in white and be ready at five o'clock while he went after the lincense. She complied with the instructions as far as possible and invited some of the lady neighbors to call and see her ascend the ladder of matrimony, but after waiting patiently for hours she gave up in despair and retired for the night broken hearted, alone in the world.

At Winnie Jeffersons, near Moore Bros. livery stable, you can get your clothes cleaned nicely. Also patching.

The apple crop of this section is fine but the fruit is worth but little now on account of so much being hauled in.

The little sensation of Monday is causing the jaws of those who wish to talk about such things to rattle right lively.

We are informed that it is the intention of the company to commence cutting the Lavender Creek ditch first of next month.

Mr. J. B. Caldwell was down again last Monday and stated that he had found some more coal at another place on his property.

The beef markets in Dahlonega have increased this week from a single one to three, on account of the opening of college and the large number of students.

Students, come to the NUGGET office and get a hundred envelopes furnished with your name printed on them for about what you have to pay for blank ones.

Our old friend J. B. Thomas, of the Dawsonville Advertiser, gave us a short call on Tuesday. The latch string to our office door always hangs on the outside for John.

It was almost cold enough last Wednesday morning for frost causing old people to talk about the killing frost that came here 39 years ago on the 17th of September.

Rev. J. D. Blackwell, after a two week's absence in South Carolina, returned on Monday with his wife who has been spending several weeks in that state with her relatives.

The mail hack has quit bringing any express packages from Gainesville and we have no regular office now. The packages are being brought up by teamsters and delivered direct to the owners.

New students continue to flock in and the unusually large attendance for the fall session of the college clearly demonstrates that the president and professors have been eating no idle bread during vacation.

An attorney writes from Savanah this week to know if there was any opening for a man of his profession. We suppose that he thought there were but few here on account of not seeing but one or two cards in the local paper.

Gen. Warner went down to Gainesville this week to see how Mr. Carlile is getting along with the street railway work. We understand that the stringing of the wires from the power plant, on the Chestatee river in this county, will begin at once.

Several letters have been received by us during the past few days from parties who wish to come to Dahlonega and establish different kinds of business. This shows that the future outlook of our city is attracting attention by men of various professions.

Many of our citizens attended the opening exercises of the fall session of the N. G. A. College last Wednesday morning. Quite an interesting program was carried out and addressed well, welcoming the old students back and the new ones that had come in.

Mining Notes.

Work was resumed at the Hamby mine in White county this week.

Prof. Ekles, United States geologist, went over and examined Crown Mountain last week and stated that her veins went down thousands of feet.

Mr. Huff received instructions not to resume work on the Briar Patch ditch until some of the directors reached here and caused a new survey to be made at certain places so as to shorten the route.

The clean up at the Singleton mill last week seemed to be very satisfactory to the manager. Ten stamps of the Consolidated Co's mill was started up this week to crush a lot of ore. If there was plenty of water manager Breymann would have things on the move down that way.

Mr. Etres, residing in White county, informs us that he already has seven good gold bearing veins opened up on his property and has it ready for the market. Mr. Etres has made the right move. A merchant can't sell a single article without exhibiting it. Neither can a property owner sell a gold mine without showing the goods.

Mr. Breymann informed us Saturday that he would not have sold his mining boat had he been close enough to visited it more than four times a year. He says that it is good property and made money, notwithstanding he was working over ground for the third time. During his short ownership he has a brick in the bank here weighing seven and a half pounds besides a lot of nuggets. When it paid so well in old works it is bound to make big money when its owners move it up the river in new diggings right in the heart of the gold belt.

The excitement of the discovery of stone coal on the Black Mountain in this county a few days ago, has about subsided. The place has been visited by a number of people who brought back pieces of coal found beneath the soil. It was reported that it was where "Turkey" Bill Postell buried some several years ago while making a blockade still, but upon inquiry of the old man he says that it is no where near the place. Some years ago after a United States geologist examined Black Mountain he reported that there were some indications of coal. Prof. E. C. Ekles, another U. S. geologist, who is here now, states before examining the mountain that there is no coal there, although it is being dug out beneath the soil. So it seems that geologists are like men of other professions, differ. If they didn't one report would do for all time to come. The best way is for the owner to take his pick and shovel and go down into the bowels of the earth and see.

General Pickups.

A sure cure for freckles. Sink them with a nailset and fill the hole with flesh colored putty. Be charitable to those whose heads are filled with putty. Remember they didn't do the filling. The way the young Texan tells you that his girl is sweet as sugar is that she will do it in coffee.

Infirmity is the lot of all mankind and the lot upon which the physician builds his palliative respite.

When a girl casts her bread upon the water she expects it to return in the shape of a wedding cake.

If the weather didn't change so often what on earth would stupid people do for something to talk about.

The worst feature about some men is their ears. They are too small for an ass and will not look like a cur's.

Man created to serve his Creator but along came woman and the servant question has been unsettled ever since.

There is some Dahlonega girls who has such a fear of rapidly moving machinery that she will not even turn a coffee mill.

Some men of wealth will put on ten dollars worth of sanctimony every time they drop a penny in the contribution box.

Every good news paper man tells the truth but if he had a million dollars back of him he could afford to tell the whole truth.

It would be hard for us to decide whether a man had better pick up a rich cross father-in-law.

The man who has not courage enough to say "no" when enyited to do wrong is not worthy of the association of a Texas chain gang.

If the average married man wants to run business his own way at home he should make his wife think he does not want the things he wants.

A quarrelsome family ought to keep a base drum for one member to drown the noise with while the balance are quarreling.

Worry is the human body what friction is to machinery. It is not the work we do but the worry that wears out the body. It is not the revolutions but the friction that wears out machinery.

"I am afraid you will be late to church today," said an Dahlonega mother to her daughter who was busy arranging her toilet. "Oh, mother," responded the girl, "didn't you know it was fashionable now for nobody to go to church until everybody else gets there."

The Ingenious Chinese.

Peter Sands of Castle Valley, completed recently a tour of the world. Of the people he conversed with the Chinese most impressed him. This is what he says on the topic:

"They tell you the French are economical and ingenious. They point out to you how the French train rats to clean the flesh from bones that are used in manufacturing, and they declare this people, when they kill rats, use their skins for gloves, their furs for caps, their bones for toothpicks and their tendons for gelatine. All that may be true.

"But in certain parts of China they have trained gulls that fish for them, and a good gull will fetch its master from 80 to 100 of fish a day. They have trained dogs that kill little birds for them—80 or 40 birds, maybe, to an animal, and they have trained dogs that day in and day out, work like Trojans keeping the crows out of the rice fields."—Philadelphia Record.

"Mad he exclaimed. Of course I'm mad. I tell you what we need is some good system of general thought transference or mind rendering. You know how hard I worked to get Margaret."

"Yes."

"Just gave my waking thoughts to the subject, neglected my business, and all that, and my waking thoughts to the subject, and made a fool of myself generally."

"But you succeeded."

"Oh yes; we're engaged. And that we have exchanged confidences I find that she was working just as hard to get me, and it makes us both mad to think of the waste of effort."

The Backslider.

Once upon a time a man who had been very upright began to lean toward intemperance and went from bad to worse, much to the astonishment of his friends, says a New York Herald writer.

One very slippery day, with blinding snow was falling, he was hastening along the street under the influence of liquor, when he slipped, fell on his back and went several feet and against a brick wall with such force that the life was nearly knocked out of him.

"I will never drink another drop of liquor as long as I live," he said when after a great effort he had regained his feet. Moral: A man may be improved by backslapping.

An exchange: Next to a man's family and business nothing should stand nearer to his heart than the town which he lives. It is the place in which he earns his competence and educates his children. If he wants to make it as popular, a thrifty and as widely as possible, he cannot afford to be indifferent to anything which will further these ends.

Cases of typhoid fever in Washington have recently multiplied so rapidly that the local authorities have become alarmed and a special sanitary expert has been appointed by the commissioners of the district to investigate the cause or causes of the epidemic. There are now 300 cases of typhoid in Washington, and the disease is on the increase.—Ex

Spiceland, Ind., is fast slipping into the control of the female population. A year ago the women of the town organized and solicited several hundred dollars. ## N. G. A. College, Dahlonega, Ga.

In response to a number of recent enquiries from parties asking:

"Where can I place my son (or daughter) so that he (or she) may receive a good education and yet without any great expense?"

The United States Trade Reports, in a recent issue of that widely circulated paper says—

"Realizing the importance of the subject and the confidence that would be reposed in our answer and recommendation we have made a careful investigation of the standing and character of all the leading educational institutions, and, with due respect to many that offer good advantages, we must concede our preference for the North Georgia Agricultural College, at Dahlonega, Ga. This college is conducted on the co-education of sexes plan, and it offers exceptional advantages, and at prices especially arranged for students of limited means."

"The courses of study are broad and liberal and embrace every requirement of modern education, refinement and culture. The faculty is composed of instructors especially qualified in theory and practice to teach, and one of the features of the work in this college is the attention bestowed upon the individual education of the pupils."

"The buildings occupied are large and commodious and every facility and convenience is provided for the pupils. The living apartments are neatly furnished, while the table menu is selected and prepared from the best of country produce."

"The laboratories, library and recitation rooms are provided with every essential requisite to the proper study and explanations of the lessons taught. Military discipline prevails at the college, and its entire tone and influence, moral, social, religious, educational and physical is all that could be asked by any parent solicitous for the welfare of his child, while the climate in which Dahlonega, Ga., is situated is always of a character that is invigorating and healthful to the best degrees."

"Therefore in view of the carefully ascertained facts we have not the slightest hesitancy in recommending the North Georgia Agricultural College to those who have requested this information, to whom we would respectfully suggest that for further and detailed information regarding this model college and its most admirable system and method of education, they write its President, Joseph S. Stewart, A. M."

"The North Georgia Agricultural College is prosperous, and is doing a work unsurpassed perhaps in importance and value by any other institution of learning in the South."—From Governor Candler's Message to General Assembly.

Greediness and Haste.

Beecher's advice to his son makes good reading:

You must not get into debt, avoid debt as you would the devil. Make it a fundamental rule: Cash or nothing.

Mak few promises. Religiously observe the smallest promise. A man who means to keep his promise can't afford to make many.

Be scrupulously careful in all statements. Aim at accuracy and perfect frankness; no guess-work—either nothing or exact truth.

When working for others, sink yourself out of sight; seek their interest. Make yourself necessary to those who employ you by industry, fidelity and scrupulous integrity. Selfishness is fatal.

Hold yourself responsible for a higher standard than anybody else expects of you. Demand more of yourself than anybody expects of you. Keep your own standard high. Never pity yourself. Be a hard master to yourself, but lenient to everybody else.

Concentrate your force on your own business; do not turn off. Be constant, steadfast, persevering.

The art of making one's fortune is to spend nothing. In this country any intelligent and industrious young man become rich if he stops all leaks and is not in a hurry. Do not make haste; be patient.

Do not speculate or gamble. Steady, patient industry is both the surest and the safest way. Greediness and haste are two devils that destroy thousands every year.

The Cruel Wife.

A man who was given to grumbling at everything and on every occasion was attacked by inflammatory rheumatism and was carefully nursed by his wife, who was very much devoted to him in spite of his fault-finding disposition. His suffering caused her to burst into tears sometimes as she sat at his bedside.

One day a friend of the invalid came in and asked him how he was getting on.

"Badly, badly!" he exclaimed. "And it's all my wife's fault."

"Is it possible?" she asked the friend in surprise.

"Yes. The doctor told me that damp places were bad for me, and there that woman sits and cries just to make the air moist in the room."

Clever Dog.

"The most remarkable dog I know," said an Albany man, "belongs to a neighbor of mine. Some time ago the dog was taught to go to a butcher's shop for a certain cut of beef that my neighbor liked. The butcher was instructed to send 70 cents' worth each time, and so the dog was given a milk bill, which he took in his mouth and started away on his errand. Invariably the butcher would give the dog the meat and 80 cents in change, and the dog would jog back home contentedly."

"One day the butcher thought he would fool the dog, and so he gave him 20 cents instead of the correct amount. As the dog took the money in his mouth he seemed somewhat mystified. He went off, but it was not ten minutes before he returned, followed by a policeman."

The democrats of Colorado refuse to fuse with the populists.

The Grave of St. Swithin.

St. Swithin, by his express request, was buried in the open churchyard, "thinking no vault was so good to cover his grave as that of heaven." When he was canonized, however, the monks of Winchester took it into their heads that his body ought to have a more dignified resting place, and resolved to move it into the choir, fixing the 15th of July for its solemn translation. It trained, however, so violently on that day and for forty days in succession that they abandoned their design as contrary to the divine will and instead erected a chapel over his grave, at which many miracles are said to have been wrought.

Fair Souvenir.

We have received a very neat souvenir from the Southern Interstate Fair in the shape of a pen holder, on which is printed the date of the fair.

The management is spending more money for attractions this year than ever before, and it is stated that the prospect for large attendance is very bright. There will be a most interesting exhibit of live stock, including a herd of 150 young Hereford cattle.

The management has changed the name of the midway to "Vanity Fair." The course features usual to midways will be shut out. Atlanta proposes to make this feature clean and attractive to ladies and children; and the change should be a welcome one. It certainly reflects credit on the Fair's management.

How to Burn Sulphur.

Sulphur is an excellent disengaging agent when burned in the poultry house; but as sulphur melts and smothers the flame it is difficult to burn it satisfactorily.

One way to do so is to dissolve one-half pint of pine tar and one-half pint of turpentine in one-half gallon of kerosene in an open vessel. Soak in this solution large corn-cobs until they are well saturated. Then take them from the solution and dust on them all of the powdered sulphur that will stick to them. Use nails or pieces of wire, and insert the pointed end into the large end of the cob and then stick them on the floor. Remove all the combustible matter from the poultry house, permitting the fumes to enter every crack and crevice, all over the surface, and the fire will be destroyed. This should be done once a month in warm weather.—Garden and Farm.

The Treasury Department received in its mail the other day the stomach of a dog; had been foolish enough to eat a twenty dollar note. The treasury experts found the mutilated fragments and in their place sent the owner a fresh certificate of the nation's indebtedness. The incident should afford a warning to all canines troubled with a longing to transform treasury notes of large denomination into fractional currency.—Savannah News.

One car load of cattle and two car loads of sheep were brought here from across the mountains Monday, and shipped to Augusta via the G. J. & S. railroad yesterday morning. Good prices have been offered for the shipment, and our urban population would find cattle raising more profitable if they would devote a little more time to it.—Gainesville News.

The cotton crop of North Carolina is short.

Centralizing the Country Schools.

State School Commissioner G. R. Glenn is bending the final efforts of his administration to school centralization. Let the people look carefully into this matter before they take this step fraught with so much importance. Good schools are great desideratum; but other interests are not to be sacrificed too far to obtain them. In other words, good schools are not the sole interest a community has; and where schools have been established and maintained for years it would not be wise and best to break them up to establish new ones with the hope of improving the school system. Several things are involved in the step. The old property where the schools are now kept, will have to be sacrificed. Money must be expended in erecting new and suitable buildings for the enlarged schools; buckling and strife will arise among neighbors over the location of the several schools thrown together and last but by no means least a large school. In many cases, communities, when centralized, will want their schools taught for the public funds, and therefore by a force too small of incompetent to conduct them. This will result in a crowded condition of the schools incompatible with the best work.

Again, centralization is only another move preparatory to Mr. Glenn's pet scheme—local taxation. All these points should be looked into before we rush into consolidation. As a rule, each community is the best judge of its own interests and its rights should be fringed as little as possible by outside interference.—Cobb County Courier.

Preachers are some times given the same bill of fare that editors have to take—nothing. We are told that there is a minister who has been footing it from place to place filling his appointments for four months and only received 35 cents. We would advise him to drop some of their names from his list. How would you like to ride a bicycle on a wire 100 feet above the ground? Atlanta's fair has engaged a man and a woman to do this act together. It is described as highly sensational.

Within a few weeks Alaska will be connected with the United States by telegraph, so that a miner who strikes gold can let his family know before he gets it out and spends it all.

When shredded corn stalks are worth eight dollars a ton it is hard to understand why the farmers allow so many to rot in their fields every year.—Sumpter Daily Item.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 13, 1902.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga., Post Office as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

FOR GOVERNOR,
HON. J. M. TERRELL,
OF MERIWETHER COUNTY.

Corn and wheat are immense in the West.

Chatham county has 108 prisoners in her jail, 87 of them lunatics.

Mr. Geo. L. Bell has been appointed assistant U. S. attorney to succeed Walter S. Merry, deceased.

A negro who was recently sold for vagrancy at Shelbyville, Ky., was bought by a member of his own race for $4.

The Nugget is in favor of Judge Candler for Supreme Court Judge if not the vacancy caused by the resignation of Judge Lewis.

Many lives are being lost in the Oregon forest fires. The destruction to property is great and the fire is spreading in all directions.

At Nashville, Ga., last week Mrs. Etta Parker, after seeing her father's murderer executed stepped up and cut him down with her father's knife.

We are glad to state that Bill Arp's condition is better. His interesting weekly letter is greatly missed by the public during his sickness.

Atlanta can boast of the biggest set of thieves of any city in the United States. The last loss is when they carried away a fetus house and stable.

We notice that the republicans of this county, who wish representation in the National convention, take no hand in the big white repubicanism started in Lumpkin county.

The board of officials appointed to prepare the government exhibit at the St. Louis Exposition has arranged for the expenditure of the $800,000 appropriation the government has made.

It is not long till the general election. Don't play shot month but do your duty as all true democrats should and give the so called independentism such a black eye that it will never stick its head up in Lumpkin county any more.

We heard a negro remark the other day that but few, if any of his race, would support the republican candidates for county offices in this county on account of being kicked out of the republican conventions, and if they voted at all, would go for the democratic nominees.

W. M. Goodwin, the mayor's secretary of Atlanta, was burgled by a strange woman while he was busy writing the other day and told that he would be the next mayor. It may be that Mr. Goodwin will decline the mayors place and still continue as secretary, that is if they are the only officials to be burgled.

So-called democrats should not keep their mouths closed now, and after the election when all the nominees have gained the victory be like the fellow who went blind and held the light for his wife to kill the bear, say "we have killed independentism." Now is the time to show a willing mind and a helping hand.

On the night of the 11th the oil gushers and tanks in Texas were carelessly set on fire by an unknown white man who went into the settling tank of the Keith Ward tract on Spindletop, with a lighted lantern resulting in a loss of over $100,000. Wells spouting a column of oil and gas more than a hundred feet in the air blazed up and no way to stop it. Later reports state that the fire is under control.

The first snow storm of the season fell at South Dakota on the 11th.

Don't claim to be a democrat and at the same time throw all the "cold water" you can on some of the nominees. This is not democracy.

So far there are but two independents or republicans offering their services to hold office in this county, and this is more than will get a job.

The Signals' big white republican crewel it has been taking keeps it so weak that it can't say any thing in behalf of the local democracy.

A few independents have stuck up their heads in Dawson county, but if they are like those in Lumpkin won't get enough votes to make it interesting.

Last week a woman was admitted to the bar in New York and if she is pretty it won't be a tiresome job for men to sit on the jury where she hangs out her shingle.

Judge Gober didn't like the horse well enough to give up a whole term in the Superior Court's chair for only a three months sitting on the Supreme Court bench.

An oil pipe line is to be constructed from Sumter, Ky., to Parkersburg, W. Va., a distance of 815 miles long with six pumping stations, and will cost $1,000,000.

The Maben (Miss.) Meteor says that cotton pickers are in demand all over the state, and adds that "if things continue this way a law will have to be passed against the killing of negroes by mobs."

If we had been old enough to serve in the Confederate army and fought and went all through the war like some people did here we would not talk up for the republican party which puts negroes into office instead of white men.

A million dollar concern asks for a charter for the privilege of erecting a big smelting plant near Atlanta to smelt, refine, refine and otherwise treat gold, silver, copper and other ores, to be known as the "Piedmont Smelting Co."

Allen Cretchlow, another convict of the Federal prison in Atlanta, escaped through the ventilator last week. It begins to look like they will have to tear down the prison and rebuild it in order to hold its prisoners. He was captured.

Republican leaders have already announced that they want no negro delegates in the national convention. If the republicans themselves do not want the negro policies, how can they object if the democrats decide to cut him out.

"Murder will out," runs the old proverb, and current events prove the saying true, remarks the Morning News. For nearly eleven years Mrs. Rosa LaFlanch Daupin was suffered to remain in possession of $859,000 of her husband's estate, which she had stolen, but recently her wrong doing was brought to light. Now she is under indictment for forgery.

The Oratorical Association of Colleges had a meeting in Atlanta last Friday and the N. G. A. College of Dahlonega was represented by Mr. W. M. Smith. Very important constitutional changes were considered. One being to change the holding of the contests from Atlanta to the college towns of the association, the contests to be held in rotation. Emory will withdraw unless the five proposed amendments are made.

The cases of defendants from Lumpkin county in the U. S. court are set as follows: Oct. 16, Thomas Williams, Squire Walden, H. J. Stancil, Howard Shelton, Joe Swany, Ed Sullins, Jr., W. A. Sullins. And Oct. 17: F. A. Crane, Jerry Black, Colman Ash, George E. Peck, (2 cases), Virgil Parks, W. Newhersy, Wm. Magness, J. H. Lingerfelt, Samuel Lingerfelt, Jas. Woody, Louis H. Oct. 18: John Chatton, (2 cases).

It is said that pure diamonds have been found in a river of Cherokee county, near Clifton, by a mineralogist.

On the 14th, one year ago President McKinley died and at many places memorial services were held in honor of this great man.

After a stormy session the republican executive committee of Alabama, at Birmingham refused the admittance of the negro delegates to the state convention.

It is announced from the executive that Hon. Samuel B. Adams of Savannah will qualify as an associate justice of the supreme court on the 20th instant. He will be sworn in by Governor Candler and a commission issued to him as soon as he takes the office. The supreme court meets October 7, when the fall term will commence.

We have been reliably informed that in a short time numerous suits for damages, perhaps from fifty to one hundred, will be filed in the Federal court in Atlanta, Ga., by citizens of Georgia, against the copper mine companies. The effects of the sulphurous smoke extending farther and farther into the country every year, playing havoc with the forests, orchards and growing crops.—Blue Ridge World.

One of the independent candidates in this county is going around telling that the democratic primary wasn't conducted right. Why not? The polls were opened in every precinct of the county and every body, even republicans who were willing to stick to it, allowed to vote. What did the republicans do? A little hand full met behind closed doors in the court house and nominated two parties of Lumpkin and one residing in Atlanta for candidates to hold office here.

It will be seen from the following clipping from the Homestead, published at Des Moines, Iowa, that the south's fertile fields are attracting the attention of people of the north and west. It reads as follows: "A demonstration of what these lands can produce was exemplified in the fine exhibit shown on the Iowa state fair grounds last week by the Southern railway. Fair visitors were amazed to see what can be raised in southern states, and especially was this noticeable in the many varieties of grain grown. The showing of fruit could not be excelled anywhere, and the grasses grown for fodder where the equal of anything in that line. There is a fine field for the northern farmer in the south, and many of those who have gone down there have made a great success of their farms and can be purchased at a very low figure. This is especially so in the states of Virginia, the two Carolinas, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Tennessee and Kentucky."

THE NUGGET

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 19, 1902

M. J. B. Anderson has gone to Alabama.

The college Dormitory is alive with school boys.

The mornings still continue almost cool enough for frost.

The express is again being kept at Mr. E. S. Copeland's store.

It is said that work will be resumed on the Briar Patch ditch at an early day.

Remember those nice college society letterheads and envelopes at J. F. Moore & Co.

The party who borrowed Mr. G. H. McGuire's pistol, some time ago, is requested by him to return it.

More than 50 students take their meals at the Girl's dormitory which causes things to look lively up that way.

Mr. J. H. Jenkins has moved out on his farm in the country a few miles from town to become a tiller of the soil.

You will observe by notices elsewhere that your city and sanitary taxes are due the last day of this month, at which time the books will close.

Last Monday quite a number of people who had been at work on the Briar Patch ditch, were in drawing their money, it being the first pay day here for this labor.

Recently, when a blockader was in with some mean liquor, he proposed to give a certificate that there was nothing put in it that would either kill or cripple a person using it.

On last Monday a young lady was down in front of the Nugget office gathering up a sack of stones. We suppose it means that a "rock thrower's convention" is to be organized here.

The stringing of the wires on the Gainesville & Dahlonega Electric Railway line from the power plant to Gainesville commenced this week. This will enable them to run an electric car in the building of the road instead of a steam construction train, being much cheaper.

Jim Tate and Jim Gibson went out this week squirrel hunting. They used the republican circular against Sheriff Davis for wadding, which had a better effect in securing squirrels to eat than votes for the republican party. They are both clever men but very often clever people get on the wrong track.

Those who deserted their country in this county and went across the line to the Yankees during the civil war, are now making out their claims against the government for "services rendered" under the late pension act, and will draw the people's money for what? Desertion. They ought to have remained there, for such people are of no benefit here nor no where else. If you dispute this, point out a single one to the contrary.

Last Monday Mr. Jake Sullins came to Dahlonega and procured the license to marry Miss Sallie Walden, who resides just across the line in Hall county. After receiving them he came out of the court house, and striking up with Frank McGee, an old friend, said to him: "You had better go out to my house to night. If you don't you will miss the best chance of your life." His friend not dreaming of a wedding thought that it meant he was running a still and asked him if he was going to have some brandy. After a long time he told Frank that he was going to get married. Some time ago this young lady ran away from home and went down to where Sullins was at, some time in Gainesville, to marry him, but he said that he was not ready and she had to return home all alone. So this time both got ready and are now riding side by side down the river of joy in life's matrimonial boat.

Mr. Paul Castleberry left for Clarkesville, Ga., on Wednesday for a few days visit.

Mrs. F. L. Reese leaves on a visit to her parents at LaGrange, Ga., next Monday morning.

Prof. N. P. Pratt and lady, were registered at Hall's Villa this week. While here they visited Porter Springs.

Rev. DeWees will leave Dahlonega and either go to Canton or Cumming, as soon as his wife recovers well enough to travel.

T. J. Turner, Jr., and Howard Shelton were bound over to the U.S. court by Com. Baker this week charged with blockading.

Cabbage is a dull sale here now. A farmer came in this week and couldn't get half a cent a pound for them and had to carry his load back.

Miss Hattie Rogeys, a graduate of the N. G. A. College, is to be wedded to Dr. A. M. Rountree, of Adrien, Ga., on the 8th of next month.

Hon. G. D. Bruce's little daughter took suddenly sick last week and has been dangerously ill with pneumonia fever but we are glad that she is recovering now.

The recent cool weather has reduced the number of visitors at Porter Springs to 12 or 14. We understand that a few anticipate remaining until the middle of October.

All of our citizens should be very careful about fire. More wells have gone dry in town during the past few days and water is getting scarce—much more so than ever before since we can remember.

Last Tuesday Henry Edmonson was put in the lock up for being intoxicated. In his pocket the marshal found a bottle of wine and two bottles of extract of ginger, showing that Henry was prepared for the future.

Old Uncle Martin Edmonson and Peter Cannon, who have resided near Auraria about all their lives, have been the closest of friends. For many years they worked together in the gold mines and nearly always when you saw one the other was close by. Recently when Uncle Peter took sick Uncle Mart requested if he died for them not to tell him about it. So the old man passed away last week and now Uncle Mart is very sick and may soon join his old friend who has gone on before, because he is very old and weak, and the loss of his comrade may shorten his days.

The registration book closed out day last week and the registrars of this county, composed of Messrs. J. T. Miller, E. S. Copeland and M. J. Williams, commenced examining the list and sending to each precinct one containing all the legal voters of their respective districts last Tuesday, which is a very troublesome job, as a number of persons have registered twice and some registered having tax f. fees against them. But very few negroes have registered which shows that they don't expect to play a very big hand in the October election.

One day this week Mr. Rube Henderson, a former U. S. Deputy Collector, located at Jasper, but now residing in Walker county, passed through this county in company with three other gentlemen on their way home from Mr. Lewis Shope's, living in Union county, where they had been to get a stolen mule which was swapped to him for a mere sum of a joke the boys used to tell on him which occurred some years ago when he had indulged too freely in some mean moonshine liquor, causing him to think that he was going to leave this troublesome world. The old man was vomiting when a friend of his came up, and he said as soon as he could speak: "John, I am failing my last time. I am going to die. Look in my pocket and you will find a quarter of a dollar. Take it and have me buried decently. Then after paying yourself out of it well for your trouble give the rest to Di, and the children."

It is said that there was a light frost near the foot of the Blue Ridge in this county, last week.

If so read W. P. Price's ad. else where and then go and see him for terms.

Mr. Noel Weaver, after many months' sickness, died at his son's house in Dahlonega last Sunday morning.

Col. and Mrs. J. H. Moore, after spending a few days in Cartersville, Ga., returned to Dahlonega last Saturday.

Mr. W. F. Worley was in the city last week. He is now drumming for an Atlanta candy house, selling sweetness.

The present dry weather has caused many of the blockaders of the mountains to have to suspend business for the want of water.

Prof. Pratt, one of the owners of the Pyrite's Mine in this county, was in the city last Sunday enquiring for some more good miners.

Big improvements have been made on the churches and cemeteries at Auraria recently, showing that the community has respect for the dead, and the living.

On the first day of October the schedule of the Gainesville and Dahlonega mail route will be changed so as to leave Dahlonega at 7 a. m., an hour earlier, fast time.

The college boys in forming last Sunday morning to go to church almost reached across the public square. If they keep coming they will have to be formed over in the drill field, in order to have room.

There was a large crowd present at the baptizing last Sunday of those who recently joined Phillips church. The 17 who joined Mt. Pisgah church will be baptized next Sunday.

One of the new school boys while out horseback riding the other day, came back and reported that he had found a still and was alarmed for fear the blockader might do him some harm.

An investigation proved it to be a still kiln.

Sometimes we get a subscriber's name wrong on our mailer and when it is done postmasters are requested to notify us when one is received at their office of this kind. The postal law requires them to do this, but it is not carried out every time.

Our old friend W. T. Bryson's experience with a rattlesnake's pilot the other day was not very pleasant. It got him hemmed up in the corner of the house where he could neither run nor kill it. His shrieks for his wife's assistance could be heard for some distance.

The hardest rain we have had this summer fell last Friday night. It raised the creeks two or three feet in a little while but ran down by morning and in two days afterwards you couldn't tell that there had been any rain at all, on account of the wind blowing and drying off the ground.

Mrs. John A. Berry, of this county, died in Atlanta one day last week. Mrs. Berry had gone there to be treated for a cancer on her breast, but before an operation was performed death claimed her for its own. Her remains were brought back and placed by the side of her husband who passed away some years ago.

Seeing "Turkey" Bill Postell in town the other day reminded us that it meant he was running a still and asked him if he was going to have some brandy. After a long time he told Frank that he was going to get married. Some time ago this young lady ran away from him and went down to where Sullins was at, some time in Gainesville, to marry him, but he said that he was not ready and she had to return home all alone. So this time both got ready and are now riding side by side down the river of joy in life's matrimonial boat.

The college attendance now number 160 students and still more coming.

Mr. Peter Cannon, another old citizen of Auraria, passed away last Saturday.

Mr. A. J. Anderson, who resides at McKee, Ga., has moved to Wier, and is now a citizen of Lumpkin county.

At Winnie Jeffersons, near Moore Bros. livery stable, you can get your clothes cleaned nicely.

The committee met last week and decided to make no change in the color or manufacture of the cadet's uniforms.

If you need any first class photographic work done call on G. D. Bruce, general manager of Dahlonega Portrait Co.

Persons at a distance should send money with their orders for the NUGGET. It is less trouble and more like business.

You will find it to your interest to visit the store of T. J. Smith, next door above Anderson & Jones, on Gaddis Street.

Let none wait 'till their subscription expires to the NUGGET before they renew. It saves time, trouble and keeps the paper continuously coming.

As I expect to change my business on the first of October I wish all parties owing me by note or account to come forward and settle at once.

T. J. SMITH

Some of our Northern friends have renewed their subscriptions to the NUGGET two years in advance. This shows that they still have confidence in the country.

It is very hard for the Almighty to please the people about rain. At this time the miner wants it so he can resume work in the mines, and the farmer prefers dry weather so he can save his fodder.

The large number of school boys certainly make Dahlonega lively. They all seem to be nice, mannerly young men and we extend to them, one and all, a hearty welcome to the Golden City of the mountains.

A little more than a year ago Parker Edmonson, of this county, was sent to the chain gang twelve months for having too many living wives. The other day he returned and got wife No. 3 and left for parts unknown.

We feel assured that Dahlonega will have railroad facilities next year and will be one of the most prosperous places in Georgia. The progress of the promoters of the electric line may seem slow to some of you but it takes time to get up the means to construct railroads. Be patient for the fast horseless carriage is coming.

Now you can send or bring us that wood you was speaking about, and when you do so please bring us good material and large loads, just like it was for some one else besides a newspaper man or the pastor of your church. Persons who try to cheat a preacher or newspaper man out of a few sticks of wood will never get to heaven.

An old ex-Confederate soldier in talking of the Spanish-American war the other day said that he would have gone and fought but he was afraid that he might get killed and when he passed on to the other world his old comrades already there would remark, when seeing him coming dressed in blue: "There comes—whom deserted his company and got killed in the Yankee army, and we have no use for him here."

Two gentlemen, after visiting Black Mountain where coal was discovered some two or three weeks ago, remarked to us that they had confidence enough in it to spend some money for development work if they had a showing on the property. The specimens found are pronounced by all to be coal, but how much there is of it will never be known until a further investigation is made and some money spent.

The first load of new fodder last Tuesday brought $1.25 per hundred.

At J. F. Moore & Co's you will find Chenille table covers, coat collar springs, Klondike caps, boys caps and ear muffs.

After eating hay and green corn, this week, one of Mr. H. H. Thomas' horses died and the other was very sick for awhile.

Mr. J. F. Castleberry will close out his summer hotel at Clarkesville and return to Dahlonega in about a couple of weeks.

The republican vote will be still lighter in this county than we expected as it is found that but few of them have registered.

'Possums are ripe and the hunters have been taken down and the dust brushed off and put into use for the first time in twelve months.

If you wish bargains, read H. D. Gurley's ad. elsewhere, and then go and examine his goods and prices. He will make it to your interest.

This week Mr. J. W. Hyde, a merchant of Bessemer, Ala., in renewing his subscription to the NUGGET, adds: "I can't afford to be without the NUGGET. It draws trade, as all the Dahlonega boys come in to read it and while here spend money with me."

We had the pleasure of meeting Bro. Herrington, of Swainsboro, Ga., editor of the Pine Forest, who was up to see his sick son that came for the purpose of entering college. This is Mr. Herrington's first visit to Dahlonega but we trust that it will not be his last.

The tunnel to the North stratified vein down at the Standard likes some fifteen or twenty feet of being finished. And if this vein is as rich as believed as many hands as can be worked profitably will be engaged. One giant is in operation on this property giving satisfactory results.

The rain that fell the other night came at the right time for Hump and Marlow who had six tons in the mill. They were not long in beating it which produced 115 pennyweights of gold. This was two weeks work for them, and came from the Lumpkin, showing that this is no sorry gold mine by any means.

The development work of the iron property of the Consolidated Co., which has been going on in this county for some time, has ceased. Not before, however, its owners are thoroughly convinced that they have good iron ore and plenty of it. With her gold, iron, copper and a good prospect for coal Lumpkin is bound to be one of the most prosperous counties in Georgia, especially when she is supplied with railroad facilities.

Work is moving along nicely over at the Copper Mine, in this county. About 25 hands have been employed. The large shaft is down some 25 or 30 feet and is being carried on both day and night. Their hoister was received last Saturday and other machinery is on the way. A test years ago proved this to be valuable property. A number of holes were drilled at various places and the ore was found to be both broad and deep.

Mr. Breymann made a thorough test of his gold saving machine down at the Consolidated Co's mill last week and it proved to be a success and saved practically all the gold that was lost from the mill plates. Mr. Breymann has felt confident for some years that he could invent a machine that would accomplish this work and it is with much pleasure to us that we are able to make the announcement of his success. It will certainly fill a long felt want in all mining countries.

In a letter received from Brooklyn, N. Y., last week we were asked if the Crown Mountain Mining Co. had shut down for good. In reply we will say that it has not. The manager tells us that work will be resumed at this mine just as soon as the dry weather ends and water enough can be had to run the plant. This has been the driest year we have ever seen, and we are 47 years of age and have lived in Dahlonega all the time. Crown Mountain is a good gold mine and will pay well when it can be run steadily.

Mining Notes.

It has been decided to build a 25 stamp mill at the Cavender's Creek mine.

The mining that is going on at the Singleton is giving good results, and if they had plenty of water it would be still better.

Roberts and Johnson who are working the bed of Cane creek with a lift, on the Gordon property, made 46 pennyweights out of one pit last week.

Some prospecting commenced on the Black Mountain last Tuesday where coal was found, to see if a bed of it could be discovered, causing much anxiety to be felt among those interested.

Messrs. Sovey, Treagent and Bruce are going right a head with their work down at the Barlow, cutting logs and getting ready to rebuild the dam which has likely been commenced by this time.

The Hager dredge boat is still hung up down near New Bridge and can't be moved nor operated until it rains sufficiently to raise the river. This boat paid well and it is hoped that it will not be idle long.

One day last week Mr. Jake Loggins, while at work down on the Calhoun property, struck a pocket and got out thirty-five pennyweights of gold in a little while. Mr. Loggins is a good miner, and besides this, he is working on number one property.

THE FRUITS OF GEORGIA

Monthly Letter of Commissioner Stevens.

AN INTERESTING REVIEW

Census Report of Miscellaneous Vegetables Raised in Georgia—Value of Horticultural Products—Wines of Georgia Are of Fine Flavor.

Not only the staple crops demand the fostering care of the Department of Agriculture, but the rapidly growing fruit industry deserves also our occasional notice. None of the great enterprises, which command the attention of our people, furnish more gratifying evidence of growth than do our orchard trees and fruits of all kinds.

Our apple tree number about twice as many as in 1850; our peach trees nearly three times as many; cherry and plum trees, more than five times as many; pear trees, more than three times and apricots twice as many.

Hon. L. G. Powers, Chief Statistician for Agriculture, in his report to Hon. Wm. R. Merriam, Director of the Census, says: "Comparisons of the yields of orchard fruits, when made by decennial years, are given little significance, as the yield of any given year is largely determined by the nature of the season". For instance during the year for which the census report was made, 1859, all fruits of every description in Georgia were cut short by the unfavorable season, being almost a total failure. But good fruit years since have shown that the yield has kept pace with the increase of the number of trees.

According to the census of 1860, which let it be remembered, was made up from the reports rendered in 1859, the total area given to small fruits was 1,634 acres, distributed among 2,804 farms, and the value of the fruits was $90,765, an average of $32.28 per acre. Of this total area 87.1 per cent, or 1,423 acres were devoted to strawberries, of which the total production was 1,355,728 quarts. These were grown chiefly in the northwest counties of Georgia. Other berries show up as follows: blackberries and dewberries, 142 acres and 144,060 quarts; raspberries and Logan berries 42 acres and 41,750 quarts; all other berries 25 acres and 25,230 quarts.

The census of 1850 reported the production of grapes in Georgia to be 3,876,000 pounds, while that of 1860 shows a production of 8,330,500 pounds. Most of these are sold as table grapes and bring high prices in the northern and western markets.

In the vineyards of Georgia wines of the finest quality are made. The grapes and wines of Georgia bring into our State more than $170,000 annually.

Georgia has lost none of her reputation for watermelons, and is beginning to take a high rank also in the production of cantalopes. The exact figures for these are, however, not yet available.

PECAN AND OTHER NUT TREES.

The culture of pecan is beginning now to attract considerable attention. The census of 1860 reports 30,455 pecan trees yielding 27,440 pounds of nuts. There were also 2,681 Persian and English Walnut trees, yielding 2,970 pounds of nuts, and 6,438 unclassified nut-bearing trees, yielding 3,026 pounds. The total value of nuts was $3,997. Here is an opening for a new industry which will, doubtless, some day add many thousands to the value of our horticultural products.

VEGETABLES.

By the census report of 1860 the miscellaneous vegetables raised in Georgia were valued at $3,009,306; the sweet potatoes at $2,254,300; the Irish potatoes at $268,553; onions at $44,592; dry peas at $953,341; dry beans at $17,982. The total sum of all these items amounts to $6,706,364.

TOTAL VALUE OF ALL AGRICULTURAL AND HORTICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

The total value of all the agricultural and horticultural products of Georgia in 1859 was reported at $86,345,343. This department, however, has later figures than these. The Agricultural year book of 1860, issued in 1861 by the U. S. Department of Agriculture, gives us the production and value of our crops in 1860. Cotton is that year brought in round numbers $6,000,000 more than the previous year or census year. At the same time the following increase in the value of other crops was shown: of corn $2,232,000; of wheat, $2,200,000; of oats, $2,000,000; of orchard fruits, a little over $2,000,000.

Thus we have for the value of the principal farm crops of Georgia, for the year immediately following that census year an aggregate of nearly $103,000,000. This bears out by an official government report the statement which we made in our Fertilizer Bulletin for the season of 1859-60, "that the agricultural and horticultural products of Georgia are worth $109,000,000."

Of course unfavorable seasons will cut these figures down, as was the case with our orchard products in 1859, reported in the census of 1860. But in view of the rapid agricultural advancement of Georgia, we may confidently look for a large increase in value over the best year that we have yet known, whenever we have favorable seasons.

Therefore, farmers of Georgia, be not discouraged, but with the same indomitable spirit that we have ever shown, persevere in the good work of making Georgia the foremost agricultural State in the Union. Aim high and, if you do not reach the highest plane, you can at least stand in the front rank.

O. B. STEVENS, Commissioner.

RICE CULTURE.

Before the civil war rice was one of the staple crops of Georgia, and was a great source of profit to those who cultivated it. But changed labor conditions, lack of necessary capital and other causes have prevented the complete rearing of this industry which, in Georgia, was wrecked by war.

Yet with favorable conditions the cultivation of rice must be very profitable, because there is an increasing demand for it and the present annual production in the United States is only about half as great as the annual consumption.

Rice is chiefly grown on lands that are low, level and easily irrigated, yet there are varieties that can be grown on fertile lands without irrigation. Some of these upland varieties have been successfully cultivated in the northern counties of Georgia. But they are not equal in quality to the lowland rice produced by irrigation.

Upland rice may be grown on any soil adapted to wheat or cotton, provided the climate conditions are favorable.

The best soil for rice is a medium loam, containing about 50 per cent, of clay. A large proportion of the rice grown in Georgia is produced on flat lands. A body of land along some river and at a distance from the sea sufficiently great to be free from salt water is selected with reference to the possibility of flooding it from the river at high tide and of draining it at low tide. In Georgia are also found excellent marshes upon what may be relatively termed high land. Usually these can be easily drained and in many cases can be irrigated from some convenient stream. On these tracts, however, the water supply is unreliable, being insufficient in time of drought, and too cold in case of frost. Although reservoirs to obviate these objections are expensive, yet under favorable conditions these inland marshes are improved at less expense than the delta lands and the results renounced well the time and labor expended upon them.

In the vineyards of Georgia wines of the finest quality are made. The grapes and wines of Georgia bring into our State more than $170,000 annually.

Georgia has lost none of her reputation for watermelons, and is beginning to take a high rank also in the production of cantalopes. The exact figures for these are, however, not yet available.

Many of the leading advertisers of the country are systematically boycotting the catch-penny advertising schemes that float about. They have decided that the newspaper is the best medium for advertising; that it pays best, and is surest to reach the trade that they want. They say they have enough of the festival dodger, the picnic announcement, the local concert program, the hotel hanger, the sign-board fake and the "town directory" humbug. It is time that the value of the newspaper as an advertising medium were being recognized in its true light.—Dublin Courier.

Turnips a Good Crop.

Turnips are good for the table and good for the stable. Stock are very fond of them. And the yellow varieties contain a very large per cent. of nourishment.

We have found the yellow rutabaga to be excellent food for horses, cattle and hogs. Indeed, we have found that our mules would quit eating corn at any time to eat the turnips.

They are good for the table is proved by the fact that our grocery merchants find it necessary and profitable to keep them in stock even when they have to be brought from the Northwest, or imported from Canada. That they should be thus imported is a reproach to our Southern intelligence.

Turnips grow readily all over the South and yield wonderfully. Very few crops can be made to produce more per acre than rutabagas. From 1000 to 1200 bushels per acre have often been grown. Such yields as these are very profitable. The demand is ready and the price is steady.—Cultivator.

Hit Him Again.

A small church was badly in need of general repairs, and a meeting was held in it with a view of raising funds for that purpose. The minister having said $500 would be required, a wealthy (and equal stingy) member of the church rose and said he would give one dollar. Just as he sat down, however, a lump of plaster fell from the ceiling and hit him on the head, whereupon he rose up hastily and said he made a bad mistake—he would give $50. This was too much for an enthusiastic member present, who, forgetful of everything, called out "Oh, Lord, hit him again!"—Baptist Union.

A Word to The Boys.

When we see the boys on the streets and public places we often wonder if they know that the business men are watching them.

In every bank, store and office there will soon be a place for a boy to fill. Those who have the management of the affairs of the business houses will select a boy in whom they have confidence.

When they select one of the boys they will not select him for his ability to swear, use slang, smoke cigarettes, or tap a beer keg.

These men may have a few of these habits themselves, but they are looking for boys who are as gentle men in every sense of the word as they can find, and they are able to give the character of every boy in the city. They are not looking for rowdies.

When a boy applies for a job and is refused they may not tell him the reason why they do not want him, but the boy can depend upon it that he has been rated according to his behavior. Boys cannot afford to adopt the habits and conversations of the loafers and rowdies, if they ever want to be called to responsible positions.

The Navajo tribe of Indians in Arizona, numbering 20,000 men, women and children, is rapidly approaching the starvation point, and unless immediate substantial aid is rendered by the government, fearful distress and great loss of life will result.

A North Georgia fellow-devil declares that a woman would not be satisfied without an unnatural bump on her somewhere. For awhile the bustle sufficed. The big sleeve with the unnatural bump on the shoulder came next. The bump then moved from the shoulder to the cuff. Just now it is the fad to wear a shirtwaist that looks as if a peck of peaches had been dumped into it in front, butardon't hurt the eyes like the oddit bumps.

THE NUGGET.

DAHLONEGA, SEPT. 29, 1902.

Entered at the Dahlonega, Ga. P. O. as Second Class Matter.

Official Organ of both City and County.

FOR GOVERNOR,
HON. J. M. TERRELL,
OF MERIWETHER COUNTY.

Turn out next Wednesday democrats, and help to crush independentism in Lumpkin county.

Oil shipments from the Beaumont oil fields since they began in 1901 aggregated 7,653,453 barrels up to the close of July last.

All who voted in the primary are honor bound to stick to every man on the ticket friend or foe.
Did you ever think of this seriously?

You will find some tickets headed "Democratic" with an independent's name on it for a county office. Examine your ticket before you vote.

Mr. W. G. McNelley, who has been traveling for the Atlanta Constitution, will take charge of the Cherokee Advance next Wednesday.

W. P. Tidwell was stabbed to death in Atlanta on Thursday night of last week by a negro named Ed Morgan. The white man was drunk and at Morgan's house.

The candidates for the vacancy on the supreme court bench are:
John S. Candler of Decatur, R.
B. Russel, of Winder, J. B. Williamson of Forsyth and John P.
Ross of Macon.

If you are a democrat don't be guilty of making any slight remarks about any of the democratic nominees. It looks too much like a man talking about his kin-folks and doesn't take very well.

Mack Mason of Gainesville, was arrested in that city last week at the instance of Postmaster Farrow for loitering in the lobby of the post office and stealing therefrom when a gentleman happened to leave his box unlocked.

Wm. Russel, a negro was last week given a verdict for $1,625 damages against the Central of Georgia while a passenger on this line during a wreck. This proves that the negroes of Georgia are being treated right, even if some of the negro lovers of the north do claim differently.

There will be a civil service examination held on October 8 for all positions in the internal revenue service. The places consist of clerkships, storekeepers and gaugers.
Application blanks may be had from the civil service commissioner at Washington, on from the local board, whose secretary is J.
H. Thibedoux, of the Atlanta postoffice.

One of the independents is going round pleading poverty. This won't do. Lumpkin county has many poor people but can't afford to give them all an office because there is not enough for each of them. Then again, where a person is not competent it is better to put him in the poor house than to give him an office that he can't fill.

Quite a number of Whitfield farmers say that the common and heretofore despised rag weeds makes the finest and most palatable hay for stock. It is claimed that if cut just before it seeds and let lie over night and part of a sun shiney day where the dew or frost will not fall on it there is no better hay. Cattle and horses love and thrive on it. The weed grows luxuriantly here and in abundance.
It may prove a most valuable animal food and needs no cultivation only cutting and harvesting comes voluntarily on fields after wheat is cut; and is ripe before it is necessary to break ground for fall sowing. If this be proven it will revolutionize the hay business of this section.—Citizen.

Independents on half shell in Lumpkin county no longer than Wednesday at 6 p. m.

At the election next Wednesday all who voted in the primary should come to the front and vote for the fell ticket and act the man, and do as you would like for others to do had you gotten your choice in the primary. Don't try to get up any excuse and act the part of a craven fish.

The democratic speakers commenced shelving the words to-day (Thursday). They commenced speaking at Scot Stringers. Then they go to Joe Jarrards the 29th,
At Yahoola 27th, Nimblewill 26th, Auraria 29th and that night in the court house at Lumpkin. Everybody invited.

Democrats, don't forget to have good bread works next Wednesday and meet the enemy on every hand. Stand to your posts like good and true soldiers. Let there be no desertion in ranks nor the use of any blank cartridges whatever, but load your bullets to the utmost capacity and shoot them so thick and fast that very yes-tage of independentism in Lumpkin county will be completely killed.

The republicans have had their tickets printed for this country.
They are double ended, having "Democratic Ticket" over the governor and state house officers including state senator. Then the county ticket is headed "Independent Ticket," with West for receiver and Stancil for sheriff, all the rest blank, causing it to be double ended and a very light affair—not being strong enough to either pull or push renders them of less service than a cravat fish.

The name of Judge Russell appears on the state ticket twice.
He was nominated for judge of the superior court of his circuit and since the resignation of Judge Lewis from the supreme court bench has declared himself a candidate for that position. This is the first time we ever heard of a man being a candidate for two of offices at the same time and he ought to be defeated for both if there was any chance. When the judge decided to run for the supreme bench he should have declined to continue for the other and given some one else a chance.

Judge Russell's candidacy for two different offices at the same time shows that he is too greedy for office. The people of his circuit nominated him for superior court judge. He accepted and now ought to be willing to serve in this capacity until his term expires before wanting to be a supreme court judge.

When Judge Candler was first mentioned in connection with judicial honors for the supreme bench the press and people from all over the state said that he was one of the brightest lawyers and best judges in Georgia. Since having opposition by three others for this office it has not caused him to lose any of his ability and we expect to vote for Judge Candler.

Capt. H. D. Ingersoll, a leading republican here who can control more votes than any other two men of his party in Lumpkin county, failed to register. He knew that there was no chance of success for this independent movement that is being pushed by a few hungry office seekers and their friends, else he might have registered and taken an active part provided it was carried on right.
The Captain is a good elec-tioneer and a splendid political schemer but he won't stoop to any dirty tricks or be connected with any kind of a campaign circular movement, or at least never has.

Hon. Hal Lewis on the supreme bench, write the name of John S.
Candler in the blank place on your

At Birmingham, Ala., 110 negroes were killed and as many more injured in a church where their National Baptist Congress had assembled. Booker Washington had just concluded his address when a cry of "fire" understood to mean "fire" caused a rush resulting in this number being crushed to death. There were near two thousand present and they heaped up in piles ten feet high trying to scramble over each other. A Birmingham negro stepped on the toes of a Baltimore delegate is what caused the whole trouble.

Don't forget that the sanitary tax is now due for the third quarter and the book will close on the first day of October.

The other day Dr. Howard, who is blind, fell against a barb wire fence at his house and cut one of his hands considerably.

If you forgot to pay your city taxes by the first of October you will have to pay something extra to an officer for the day.

The price of meat is still advancing and it is almost out of reach of many poor people, being 16 and 28 cents per pound.

Not long ago two Union county teachers in charge of schools in Lumpkin had to be discharged by the board for incompetency.

More than sixty students take their meals at the college dormitory and it keeps Prof. Byers pretty busy looking up eatables.

One day last week Mr. Ike Reid was kicked on the chin by his mule, rendering him unable to open his mouth very little for several days.

You can put your hogs in close pens, eighteen inches from the ground, beginning on the first day of November and not violate any town ordinance.

As I expect to change my business on the first of October I wish all parties owing me by note or account to come forward and settle at once. T. J. SMITH

Mr. M. G. Head left for Atlanta last Monday where he went to lay in a new stock of goods, which will be sold at such low figures as to make it to your interest to trade with him.

Dawson county seems to be the banner county of Northeast Georgia for blockading, judging from the cases set for trial in the U. S. court in Atlanta next month, to be seen on our first page.

A large rattler was killed one day last week near Cane Creek falls by a little son of Mr. John Marlow while he was out squirrel hunting. He was just in the act of stepping on it when the snake commenced singing. After its head was shot off it measured three feet, nine and one-half inches.

Sad ad. of John Hatfield's restaurant and soda fount elsewhere. John keeps plenty to eat, drink and smoke and when you visit his place of business once he will treat so nice and clever that you will be sure to go again. Go and get some of his nice fresh cream cheese.

Messrs. G. S. & F. M. Scofield, bankers of Atlanta, informed us last week that they were applying for a charter for a trolley line from Atlanta to Rossville, Alpharetta, Cumming, Dawsonville, Dahlonega, Cleveland, Tallulah Falls and Cornelia. As they say, it will open up eight counties and prove of great benefit to each, as well as every town, village and farm, adding to the value of every piece of property along the entire line, and it is an enterprise that we trust will be completed. They wish to get it in operation by next summer.

Good iron wheel wheelbarrows at B. R. Meaders & Sons for $2.00.

Messrs. John Whelchel, Charlie and Ross Thomas, returned to Anniston, Ala., to day.

Mrs. E. W. Strickland left this week for Atlanta to lay in her fall stock of millinery goods.

Lewis Black, of this county, was bound over by Com. Baker and Ross Thomas, returned to Anniston, Ala., to day.

Mr. E. S. Copeland went out to Ball Ground last Wednesday after his mother to spend the winter with him.

Remember that the Gainesville mail leaves an hour earlier next Wednesday, and the daily mail to Porter Springs ceases for the season.

Deputy Marshal Grizzel informs us that he has made 24 arrests for the quarter just ended and assisted in the destruction of nine illicit distilleries, though the later is less than usual.

Mr. H. D. Gurley is doing just like he said he would in his advertisement—sell his clothing at cost. So if you wish a bargain in this line you had better call before the goods are all gone.

Mr. Paul Sosebee, auditor of the Gainesville and Dahlonega Electric Railway Co. has been transferred to Gainesville. Mr. Doyle Moore takes Mr. Sosebee's place here.

Mr. J. E. McGee has sold his house and lot to Mr. M. J. Williams and traded for his stock of goods, causing Mr. Williams to retire from the mercantile business, for awhile at least.

An old gentleman by not taking his county paper and knowing when to make out his pension claim according to announcement, may lose it for this year on account of not coming in at the proper time.

It is a mistake about Jim Gibbs going out with Jim Tate last week squirrel hunting with public circulars for gun wadding. Jim says he voted in the democratic primary and has no use for these circulars in any manner. Hurrah for Jim!

Emory Scott was brought to his home in this county last Saturday from Ducktown, Tenn., with typhoid fever. It is reported that most of the fever patients die when allowed to remain there, and of late, as soon as a man takes it they send him home where he can be properly cared for.

The registrars of this county finished up their work last Tuesday and found 1861 males entitled to vote as follows: Attrair 153, Chestatee 82, Cane Creek 61, Crumby's 54, Dahlonega 286, Davis 81, Froggtown 46, Hightower 70, Jones' Creek 25, Mill Creek 51, Martin's Ford 57, Nimblewill 80, Porter Springs 65, Shoal Creek 80, Wahoo 69, Yohola 91.

We are informed that there will be a two days basket meeting at the old Cedar Mountain camp ground this year on the first Saturday and Sunday in next month. There has been no meeting held at this place for years, and the arbor is gone, but the old people yet living who use to meet and tent there want to assemble together at this old camp ground and hold religious services once more.

Last Saturday afternoon "Bum" Tolbert, the Gainesville and Dahlonega mail driver, brought in a load of passengers and one of those snakes which has the end of its tail ornamented with nice little rattle. He came across it down on Crooked creek. One of the mules walked over it but never got bit. Just before this "Bum" had killed a lizard with a pistol, but after shooting thirteen times at the snake put away his shooting iron and ended its unpleasant misery with rocks. It was placed in a tin bucket and brought to Dahlonega where it was looked at with much interest by men, women and children, some of whom had never seen one of these unusual snakes before.

The college roof is receiving a new coat of paint.

Mr. Charlie Kerr went down last week to help them string the wire on the electric car line.

When Dahlonega gets an electric line from Gainesville and tramsley line from Atlanta, won't we prosper?

Twenty young ladies and two young men were baptized at Mt. Pisgah last Sunday in the presence of a large crowd of people.

Miss Mary Sparks has been confined to her bed here at her brother Joe's for more than nine weeks and is in a critical condition.

The woman blackader didn't "draw as near to thee" as usual Saturday night and the boys had to go seven miles to see her, else have nothing to drink Sunday.

Manda Hashaw, the crazy negro who left Dahlonega near three weeks ago with her child, has not been heard of since she took dinner at a man's house in Union county.

Notwithstanding the female population is much greater than that of the male, a young lady in Dahlonega has three sweethearts, causing some of those who have none to look pretty sour.

The electric car company is going right ahead with its dam on the Chattohoochee river at Dunlap's shoals. A stone dam was first talked of but it has been decided to build a log one.

Uncle Geo. Chapman, residing at New Bridge in this county, was in Dahlonega last Monday for the first time in two years. Besides transacting other business he had his name registered on the Nugget's subscription book.

Up at Pisgah last Sunday while the baptizing was going on in the Chestatee river several were standing on the foot log, when the hand pole broke and all fell in the river. Mr. John Rees's head struck a rock but the injuries were slight.

Mr. J. F. Castleberry, who has been running a summer house at Clarkesville, Ga., is down on a visit for the first time this summer. Mrs. Castleberry also returned. Mr. Castleberry will go back in a few days and close up his house there for the season and return to Dahlonega.

Up to last Saturday the names on the college roll numbered 182, being the largest number of students we have seen here at the opening of a session in many years. There is one thing we are pleased to note, and that is this: The increased attendance from Lumpkin county, showing that people both far and near are fully realizing the great importance and usefulness of this institution.

On Monday morning last Messrs. Bruce, Sovey and Tregent, who recently leased the Barlow mining property from the Dahlonega G. M. Co., commenced the rebuilding of the dam at the same place from where the old one was washed away some years ago. The work progressed both day and night until Friday afternoon when they were served with a notice by the sheriff that an injunction had been granted by Judge Estes to Judge W. W. Murray lesee of the Gordon property adjoining, through his attorney Col. W. F. Price, property sub-leased to Roberts and Johnson, Col. W.

A. Charters is the attorney for the Consolidated Co. and when he discovered that the Consolidated Company's name only appeared in the notice and not any of the lessees he said they could go ahead with their work and on Friday night the dam was completed and next morning, when Roberts and Johnson went down to mine, they found to their surprise the water backed all over their works and could do nothing more. The way Judge Murray became a party to the suit is this: When he leased the property he obligated himself to allow no dams to be built on trespassing in any manner and when the dam was commenced he acted according to his obligation.

How deceitful some women can be. Often when they go out visiting you will hear them call their husbands "papa" in a very soft, mellow tone. And when at home and no one present, you will hear of one occasionally grabbing her husband by the hair of the head and after a jerk or two call him a "darned old devil" in a very harsh tone loud enough to be heard by the neighbors, and wish that he was dead.

It is with deep regret that it becomes our duty to chronicle the death of Mr. Albert Whelchel, another one of our old friends and schoolmates which occurred on Friday afternoon last at 6 o'clock in Anniston, Ala., after an illness of two weeks of typhoid fever. The deceased was borned and raised in Dahlonega and a son of Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Whelchel, still residing at this place. He was kind, clever, sociable and acted in such a manner as to gain and keep the friendship of every one he met. For many days, weeks and months the writer and the deceased sat side by side in the old Dahlonega Academy when we were young, and studied the blue back speller and McGuffey's reader while not engaged in some mischief, and if an ill word ever occurred between us in our lives we do not remember it. Yes, another one of our schoolmates have passed away, leaving less than half a dozen that we know of out of the large number of boys and girls who used to attend school 30 and 40 years ago. Which one of us will be next no one knows. The remains of the deceased were brought to Dahlonega and buried by the side of his departed sisters on Monday in the presence of a large concourse of people.

Last week Col. W. P. Price, president of the board of education of Lumpkin county, presented us with one of his pamphlets containing 34 pages of very interesting information concerning the public schools of this county. There are now 31 public schools in the county, 28 whites and 3 colored, besides the white and colored schools at Dahlonega. A little more than five years ago Col. Price was elected a member of the board of education. And a few months afterwards he was selected as its president, and from that time on, given almost his entire attention to the upbuilding of the common schools of this county. And we are glad to state that his efforts have not been in vain. When the Colonel went into office, five years ago, schools that were not taught in churches were tried to be carried on in old rotten log houses, some of the walls having cracks big enough to throw a good size dog through, and the teachers received but very little for their services. Now well constructed, comfortable plank buildings take the places of the old cold huts, and church houses are no longer used in which to instruct the pupils, but a nice school house is located some where close convenient to the patrons of each community, and the teacher's salaries have been increased several dollars per month. Each school has been supplied with suitable maps and literature and new desks are being put in just as fast as the school fund will admit. Hereafter no third grade teacher will be employed in Lumpkin county. Nothing but second and first, and the president and board will use every effort to still increase teachers salaries when it is possible. Great credit is due the president for the untiring efforts he has used in behalf of the educational interests of Lumpkin county. He is never too tired or busy to refuse to talk about the educational interests of this section. At more times than one he has arose from his bed at midnight to talk with parties coming in from the country to see him on school business.

On Wednesday while Mr. John Whelchel and Mr. Ross Thomas of Anniston, Ala., were in the Nugget office the former received a letter from home stating that one of his children was sick and a child of his sister, Mrs. Smith, had the typhoid fever.

Mr. Joseph Patton, another old landmark of this county, passed away this morning (Thursday) at one o'clock. The deceased had been afflicted for some six or eight years and suffered much. But the angel of death came along and caused all earthly suffering to cease and removed him to that world not made by hands.

The college dormitory is being conducted under a different plan this year to what it has ever been before. Prof. Byers is paid a salary for filling the chair of agriculture, but receives nothing extra for conducting the dormitory except his board. The students pay eight dollars per month in advance. This is turned over to the president of the college. At the end of twelve months, after paying the expenses of cooks, cabbages, etc., if there is any money left it is paid back to the boarders. By this means every boy who wishes to receive a collegiate education can do so at a very nominal sum.

Mrs. Davis, wife of the sheriff, is quite sick.

The ladies who attend church request us to ask the people to keep their dogs at home on Sunday.

Mr. Breymann and several members of the executive committee of the Consolidated Co. will be in town.

Henry Roberts was out in town last Saturday exhibiting some rich ore which he found on the Gordon property recently, being from two different veins. It was speckled with gold and caused most of those who saw it to take the gold fever.

Work was resumed on the Gorge dam last Wednesday morning by as large a force of hands as could be managed profitably. The construction of this dam is for the purpose of getting power sufficient to run the Crown Mountain plant at all seasons of the year.

Development work is still going on at Black Mountain in search of more coal. Several pieces have been taken out since the first was discovered. Mr. W. B. Fry, who is well acquainted with coal mines, went up last Tuesday to see it and says the indications are good.

Messrs. Sovey, Tregent and Bruce completed the dam at the Barlow last week and are now engaged in constructing the race to the mill, and in a short while the mill will commence crushing ore. The Barlow is a good mine and we feel confident that these gentlemen will make money there.

So far the Dahlonega Gold Mining and Milling Co. has not resumed work on the ditch which was started to be cut to its property, known as the Briar Patch, some weeks ago, and afterwards suspended. We are in possession of enough facts to be able to state that this ditch will be cut, if not by this company it will be by other parties. Should this company fail to do it a small syndicate will be organized of residents of Lumpkin county who wish to cut it for those who want to work water to those who want to work the placer diggings through which it will run, composing some of the richest gold mining property in Lumpkin county that cannot now be operated for the want of water power.

Later.—The company paid for the water power Wednesday and will cut the ditch itself.

We notice that one of the independent candidates has had his initials reversed on the double ended tickets. Instead of William Jahn it is Jahn William, but it will make no difference as but few will be cast either way.

Boys, don't hallow at every person passing your boarding house. It causes a reflection to be made on your parents, but you know that you have been raised better. It sometimes gets up rows and fights. Don't be guilty of such conduct any more.

Several U. S. prisoners from this county have already gone before the court and entered a plea of guilty and are now serving out their sentences, ranging from two months up, according to the charge and how often the law has been violated.

Mining Notes.

A rich strike was made on the Ruthifer a few days ago.

We are informed that work will likely be resumed at the Findley mine next week by a native miner under a lease.

One day last week a little boy who was sent here by his widowed mother from Jacksonville, Fla., left out after remaining only a day or so on the stage for Gainesville with only about a dollar in his pocket. His mother had sent $75 to Prof. Stewart, president of the college, with instructions for him to look after her little boy. The professor had him stop at Capt. W. J. Worley's until he could fix for him at the dormitory, and as the little fellow had been told by some one in Gainesville, who wanted him to stop and go to school there that the dormitory boys were fed on nothing but cabbage and pot liquor, he preferred leaving out. Prof. Stewart telegraphed his mother about her son's departure, who instructed him to have the boy brought back, and keep him here. The instructions were complied with. But the boy left the second time. His mother was again notified, who replied that she didn't want him to come home because she could do nothing with him. What will become of a little thirteen-year-old boy turned out into the world like this we do not know.

The college dormitory is being conducted under a different plan this year to what it has ever been before. At one end of the machine and the other comes out at the other, when the process is completed, the dried ready for market. This blood will usually contain about thirteen per cent. of nitrogen which is the equivalent of about sixteen per cent. of ammonia, but as in the case of the cotton-seed meal, there is actually no ammonia in it.

TANKAGE.

The next important product of the slaughterhouse is what is known to the trade as "Bone Tankage." This is a mixture of blood, bones, waste scraps of meat, etc. This material gets its name from the fact that it is cooked in huge tanks in the first preparation. It is cooked, under steam pressure, at a high temperature for several hours. As a result, most of the fat in the bones is removed and carried to the tank, where it is skimmed off and utilized for soap-making and other purposes. The bones and the cooked meat, etc., now lie at the bottom of the tank, and the tank water is dark and highly colored—in fact a sort of soap, containing nitrogenous matter in solution, animal and vegetable, bones, etc., are removed and crushed or ground in the same way as was done with the dried blood product.

CONCENTRATED TANKAGE.

The tankage which has been removed, overcomes the excess of water removed, and a product known as "Concentrated Tankage" is the final result of the treatment. The finished tankage contains about twelve per cent. of nitrogen. The dried and ground Bone Tankage, or what is known as simply Tankage, contains about seven per cent. of nitrogen, ten per cent. of total phosphoric acid and six per cent. per cent. of available phosphoric acid.

BONE MEAL.

There are also three kinds of bone meal produced, raw, steamed and steamed bone meal. The first is, as its name indicates, produced by the crushing and grinding of raw bones, after removing any adhering fat or meat. This material contains about four per cent. of nitrogen, twenty-three per cent. of total phosphoric acid, and eight and one-half per cent. of available phosphoric acid. The regular bone meal is cooked under pressure for a few hours in the tanks; this removes fat and also causes some loss of nitrogen, but makes the product grind easier and finer. This grade of bone meal contains about three per cent. nitrogen, twenty-seven per cent. phosphoric acid, and twelve per cent. available phosphoric acid. Steamed bone meal is the product of the glue works, and is made by grinding the bones left after boiling all the fat and glue out of them that can be obtained. This process reduces the percentage of nitrogen, as that steamed bone meal will usually contain less than two and one-half per cent. of nitrogen, but has about the same amount of phosphoric acid as the ordinary bone meal.

As you know it is customary, in the carelessness of taking obtaining among us all, to speak of cottonseed meal as containing eight per cent. of phosphorus. What is wrong, it does not contain any phosphorus, but does contain six and sixteenths per cent. of nitrogen in the form of albuminous or protein, of which I wrote you so much in my letters on feeding; and this six and six-tenths per cent. of nitrogen can under certain chemical conditions be converted into eight per cent. or even more phosphorus. This is the plain, and when you buy a certain feed, the future don't imagine, because you smell certain peculiar odors about it, that you smell ammonia; that is rarely, if ever, the case; the odors you smell are usually due to animal matters, fish-scarf etc., and indicate no nitrogen in the fertilizer than one which has no protein at all.

In the same way a dark or black color is no indication of value in the fertilizer. In point of fact the highest grade fertilizer which could possibly be compounded by the art of man would be snow white in color. The materials used for compounding such a fertilizer would be nitrate of ammonia, muriate of potash, and lime salts when chemically pure, are snow white salts. To return now to our description of the various nitrogenous materials. Cotton-seed meal, with which you are fully familiar, stands first in importance in Southern agriculture.

An average meal of good quality will contain six and sixteenths per cent. of nitrogen, which, if converted into ammonia, would be equal to eight per cent.

It also contains an average of 2.7 per cent. of phosphoric acid and 1.8 per cent. of potash. It is a very valuable fertilizer, and constitutes the nitrogen base of the greater portion of commercial fertilizers manufactured in the South.

PACKING-HOUSE PRODUCTS.

As little is generally known of these and the manner of their production, I will give you a brief account of their manufacture.

The great packing-houses are located chiefly in Chicago, Kansas City and St. Louis, Mo. In these houses the cattle are slaughtered, and the various parts of the body are put to some special use. Apart from the production of dressed beef, mutton or pork, there is of course a large quantity of waste to be utilized, but the material most interesting to us is that which is used for fertilizer, this consists of blood, fat, bones, skin, horns, etc., of scraps of meat, skin, bones and blood.

DRIED BLOOD.

The material known as "dried blood" is the most valuable fertilizing product, and the richest in nitrogen. In preparing this material, the liquid blood is collected in vats, when it is cooked; this process causes the separation of the protein, the blood fat remaining in the vat, and the water into passes where about one-half of the water is pressed out. After pressing it is still damp and must be dried in the sun or in ovens of cakes; these cakes are next broken up and dried by passing them through a mechanical drier heated by steam. The damp cakes go

The Tired Foot.

A lady was watching a potter at his work whose one foot was kept with a never slackening speed turning his "swif wheel round" while the other rested patiently on the ground. When the lady said to him in a sympathizing tone, "How tired your foot must be!" the man raised his eyes and said: "No, ma'am; it isn't the foot that works that's tired. It's the foot that stands. That's it."

If you want to keep your strength, use it. If you want to get tired, do nothing. As a matter of fact, we all know that the last man to give a helping hand to the next in need, is the man who has plenty of time on his hands. It is the man and woman who are doing the most who are always willing to do a little more."—Philadelphia Ledger.
